'Crime Exists In Politics And Business'

MONTREAL (UPI) — Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said Thursday organized crime "exists without limits" in Quebec in all walks of life.

Wagner told the fifth International Criminological Congress organized crime, "the most dangerous class of criminals," exists inside the noblest professions.

"It exists even in political bodies as well as in civilian and commercial corporations, the latter apparently the most reluctant to such an infiltration."

"We have not in our 'organized crime' cases of leading personalities like Al Capone, Louis Lepke and Legs Diamond who had established a criminal empire within the United States. Happily enough we have no such persons in our province, but rather certain representatives or associates of important persons."

Vote Nov. 8 Says Argue

MOOSE JAW (CP) — Hazen Argue, Federal Liberal organizer for Saskatchewan, said Thursday there will be a federal general election November 8.

Mr. Argue, former member of parliament for Assiniboia, made the statement in an interview.

He said Prime Minister Pearson believes Canada can be governed best by a party with a majority in the Commons.

Mr. Pearson's Liberal government does not have a majority at present.

Initiative or Inside Track?

City Hall Rocks Over Lot Deal

By A. H. MURPHY

Members of city council legislative committee deadlocked Thursday on a decision to sell a city-owned lot to an employee of the city engineer's department.

Senior city officials also tangled on the question and charges were made that if such practices took place in a private company, the employee would be fired.

With only four committee members present and an even split on the question, the matter was tabled until a meeting can be held with better attendance.

The lot in question is on Ryan Street and the employee, Terry Johnston, a roddman with a survey crew.

Land Commissioner Alfred Joyce said the lot was one of four on the street owned by the city. Three sold for prices in the neighborhood of $4,000, but the fourth, because it fell away sharply, was not bought.

He said Mr. Johnston made a deposit on the lot which was listed for sale at $1,500. Immediately free fill from the city's Bowker Creek development, began pouring into the property.

FREE CITY FILL
If the lot is filled with free, city-trucked material, said Mr. Joyce, it will be as valuable to the city as the other three, and therefore he recommended that the Johnston offer be refused.

"I maintain that this employee had knowledge, as a member of the city engineer's department, of the value of the lot."

Council Fails To Solve Greek Crisis

ATHENS (UPI) — A second session of a crown council called by King Constantine ended early today with no signs of a break in Greece's seven-week-old governmental crisis.

Eleven former premiers and several parliamentary leaders met for 6½ hours with the 25-year-old monarch at the Royal palace.

Former premier George Papandreou, who has frustrated efforts by Constantine to form a government of national union, emerged to say, "I have suggested a caretaker government and elections at the earliest possible convenience."

Constantine is vigorously opposed to elections.

The crown council has not been scheduled to meet again. Observers said the two sessions appeared to have left the critical situation unchanged.

New Bloc To Fight Election

MONTREAL (CP) — Formation of Le Bloc du Quebec, a new federal political party which plans to enter candidates in every Quebec riding in the next federal elections, was announced Thursday.

A pamphlet handed to reporters at a press conference announcing formation of the party said the bloc "does not propose separation of Quebec from the rest of Canada, but insists upon respect for the principle of equality between the two nations, by means of a new constitution."

MANIFESTO
A six-page manifesto, read to reporters by Montreal journalist Andre LeCompte, a spokesman for the party, set out the following aims if the party is elected to Ottawa:

• Severance of all sovereignty ties Canada has with other countries.

• Formation of a new parliamentary system under a president and two chambers, one representing English Canada and the second French Canada.

• Creation of five economic regions for the country — the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia.

• Rewriting of the constitution to give French-Canadians "justice and representation."

"Within a few days at least two members of Parliament will join Le Bloc du Quebec," said Mr. LeCompte.

Booster Rocket Blown Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A Thor-Agena booster rocket was destroyed moments after launch Thursday, shattering a nearby residential area, and 41 persons were taken to the base hospital for examinations.

An air force spokesman said apparently no one was injured, but the 41 persons were taken to the hospital as "a precautionary measure."

DEERIS FALLS
The missile was exploded in flight by the range safety officer.

Two trailer homes were damaged by falling debris and several brush fires were ignited on the base but the blazes were contained, the spokesman said.

Williston Slams Diversion

Lands, Forests and Water Resources Minister Williston said Thursday that a U.S. plan to divert water from the Canadian Rockies to eastern Canada and the southwest United States would deprive B.C. of its hydro-generating potential.

He called the plan "visionary" and "impractical," echoing previously expressed views of Premier Bennett.

MAKE STUDY
On Wednesday in the U.S. Senate, Utah Sen. Frank E. Moss, a Democrat, introduced a resolution asking that an engineering study be made by the end of next year and that President Johnson invite Canada to join in the study.

The scheme, called NAWAPA for North American Water and Power Alliance, would cost an estimated $100,000,000 and take about 30 years to finish.

Drawing on Yukon and the Rocky Mountains, the Trench, NAWAPA would divert water as far east as Lake Superior (where it would help regulate the level of the Great Lakes) and as far south as Mexico.

—But Alberta Perks Up

CALGARY (CP) — Industry and Development Minister A. R. Patrick of Alberta said, Thursday, the province is "most interested" in a $100,000,000 plan to divert surplus water from northwestern Canada to the United States.

Mr. Patrick said NAWAPA "at least points up the great need for water conservation."

Crisis Seems Ended

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Mediator Ellsworth Bunker of the United States said Thursday he expects the provisional government of Hector Garcia Godoy to receive widespread diplomatic recognition "very quickly" after it is installed Friday.

"We are hopeful that peace may now return to the Dominican Republic and that it will be set on the path of recovery and the establishment of representative democracy," Bunker said.

BITTER CRISIS

The American spoke for the three-man mediation committee of the Organization of American States (OAS) that negotiated acceptance of the provisional government to end the bitter crisis after more than four months.

Garcia-Godoy, 44, will become president of the new government at a simple ceremony scheduled for Friday in the presidential palace.

Kashmir War Spreads

NEW DELHI (AP) — India said Pakistani pilots flew U.S.-made jets Thursday in aerial combat over Kashmir, while Pakistan's ground units punched five miles into Indian territory behind American-made Patton tanks.

Indian officials acknowledged the loss of two towns, Chambl and Dewa. It appeared an Indian counter-attack had only slowed the advance of what India says is a Pakistani force of 2,000 men and 70 tanks, pouring into the flatlands of southwest Kashmir.

Hopeful talk about a dawn counter-attack had switched by night to an official report that the fighting was continuing on a "subdued scale," but that "our soldiers are putting up a vigorous fight."

Though the exact battleground situation was hazy, it was clear the government was prepared for the worst—perhaps even a greatly widened conflict with neighboring Pakistan.

A defence ministry spokesman said Indian air force planes were attacked by Pakistani planes as they flew reconnaissance missions.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman said Pakistan's forces continued to press unchecked eastward across the plains from captured Chamb.

Radio Pakistan said Pakistani forces captured about 200 Indian soldiers and 15 tanks in the first day of fighting around Chamb.

An Indian spokesman said Indian air strikes destroyed or badly damaged 13 of the medium Pakistani Patton tanks and 30 or 40 other heavy vehicles were wrecked.

Canada May Mediate

OTTAWA (CP) — The possibility of Canada acting as a mediator in the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir is being explored.

External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday called in separately for talks Indian High Commissioner Bejoy Krishna Acharya and Pakistani High Commissioner Sultan Mohammed Khan.

Curfew Falls Following Poona Riots

BOMBAY (UPI) — Authorities Thursday clamped a 24-hour curfew on the city of Poona following two days of Hindu-Muslim riots. Indian troops were standing by in the event of more trouble.

About 50 persons were injured and several buildings, including places of worship, were damaged in the communal fighting.

Troops Patrol Natchez

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi national guardsmen in full battle dress enforced a tense peace here late Thursday after city officials rejected Negro demands for stepped-up desegregation.

Governor Paul Johnson sent the 650 guardsmen into this historic Mississippi River port earlier Thursday, saying there was imminent danger of a riot.

Negro leaders called off an afternoon march. They urged Negroes to stay calm.

Guardsmen, some with riot guns and others with bayonets on their rifles, patrolled the streets in jeeps. Their orders were to disperse any groups that formed.

"We are not here to enforce integration or segregation," said State Adjutant - General Walter Johnson, who commanded the troops. "We are here to enforce the law."

The Negro demands generally called for total and immediate desegregation of schools and

Can of People Attracts Fishes

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Three of the United States' first 10 aquanauts described Thursday night how Sealab 2 has created a new world for them of "beautiful green light," octopuses and inquisitive fish that peer through windows into their underwater home.

Jay D. Skidmore, 36, Chula Vista, Calif., chief photographer, called his first five days in the 45-day test of man's ability to survive an underwater environment "the biggest thrill of my lifetime."

He was joined in a unique interview transmitted via the new Benthic laboratory from Sealab 2 to the Scripps Oceanic Institute by two other crew members, Barry Cannon, 30, and Cyril J. Tuckfield, 43, both of Panama City, Fla.

"It is particularly interesting at night when the fish come up and peer through lighted windows at the men inside," he continued. "We peer right back at them."

He added, "everytime someone sees something new we all rush to the window to look."

Tuckfield, who does much of the cooking and is chief engineer, joked about the eating. "If we don't do anything else, we will certainly set an eating record while we are here. You know that hatch we come in and out of is 40 inches across. If we're not careful we won't be able to get out when this is all over."

Helium in the cabin air mixture distorts speech, Skidmore said, adding, "we had a lot of fun laughing at each other's speech at first. But after a while down here we've learned to talk so we can understand each other."

But the Benthic laboratory uncrambles these distortions for transmission to the mother ship and Scripps Laboratory.

As the long-range threat of Hurricane Emily continued to diminish, Scott Carpenter and other aquanauts went ahead with work on the first underwater weather station and other projects.

U.S. Plan Slammed

Said Mr. Williston Thursday: "We have little reason to believe this proposed scheme would benefit greatly the people either of B.C. or Canada."

He added that diverting water from the Peace River across the prairies "might have some mutual advantage."

He went on:

"The real essence of the scheme is to store water in the Rocky Mountain Trench at elevation (height)."

REMOVE HEAD
"To do this you must remove most of the head after it leaves B.C."

"If you remove the head you remove the potential for generating electricity."

NAWAPA would also flood "a large area of B.C.," he said.

After calling the plan vision-ary, he said:

"As presently constituted it's impractical, and in any event it's for the principal benefit of our neighbors to the south, at the expense of Canada."

"For these reasons I doubt it will gain much support from Canadians in general and British Columbians in particular."

In Vancouver Thursday, A. F. Paget, Mr. Williston's deputy, also criticized the proposal.

Pensioner Dies At Duncan

LAKE COWICHAN — A member of the local branch of the old age pensioners' organization, Mrs. Ellen Beatrice O'Keefe, died in King's Daughters' Hospital Tuesday.

Born at County Borough, Leicester, she died on her 76th birthday.

sons in this kind of hierarchy,"

Wagner said.

One gang, he said, might control gambling, another controlling prostitution, a third drugs and a fourth arson and fraudulent bankruptcies.

"They are protecting each other and resent intrusion in their private field of affairs. They are looking for accomplices among politicians and politicians. The key to prosperity is to win their support."

"The gangsters are passing themselves as businessmen or professionals. They have never been accused of crimes, are respectable citizens, contribute to charity and are good neighbors. They pass their orders on to their lieutenants who are qualified criminals," the justice minister added.

Wagner said there is a notable difference between European and American criminals. "The armed holdup by organized gangs was born on the North American continent. For one holdup in France, we have 50 in the United States or Canada," he added.

There are organizations covering the U.S. and Canada dealing in prostitution, he said. In Europe such organizations exist, but on a much lower scale. European bandits, he added, seldom shoot law officers, "but on our own continent, unfortunately, the case is a different one."

"This mentality of recourse to violence is rooted in the law of the strongest, the best shooter, and pilferage of mail coaches which were in use 75 years ago," Wagner added.

The onetime judge said the immigrant factor plays its role in crime on this continent also. "Assimilation of nationals from all countries has not yet been completed. Much bitterness and violence still exists."

Speaking about crime in Quebec, Wagner said "we have succeeded in breaking seven various organizations of profiteers and sentences of up to 14 years have been pronounced by our appeals-court."

He said an arson-trade inquiry has been set up to probe bankruptcies and occasionally individuals have been found guilty of both fraudulent bankruptcies and arson when a building burns.

Lot Deal Rocks City

Department, in this deal—knowledge which was not in the possession of other people who are interested in this lot," Mr. Joyce said.

City Manager Dennis Young, who introduced the whole subject, said he did not feel that the young man was guilty of misconduct.

"This fill is free to anyone. The city is, in fact, looking for places to dump fill. He may have been out to make a fast dollar, but there is nothing illegal in what he did. He was willing to build a retaining wall to keep the fill on the property. It seems that he just saw an opportunity where no one else did," he said.

"The land is partly filled now and there is certainly no retaining wall. The fill started pouring in before or certainly right after he made a deposit on the land," Mr. Joyce replied.

SPECIAL KNOWLEDGE
City Treasurer James Bramley thought that, as Johnston was in the city's employ, he should have given the city an opportunity to make a profit on the land rather than himself. He was making use of his special knowledge, he maintained.

"What is this? Are we here to penalize initiative and good business sense? This young man has done nothing wrong. In fact, he is to be admired. He saw an opportunity to make a dollar and he grabbed it. There is certainly nothing wrong in that," said Ald. Michael Griffin.

Ald. Clyde Savage agreed. The young man had done nothing wrong nor had the city engineering department, he said. The fill was free not only to him but to anyone else who wanted it.

DECISION DEADLOCKED
Aldermen Griffin and Savage moved that the sale be authorized. Aldermen Robert Baird and Lily Wilson deadlocked the decision.

Mr. Johnston appeared before the committee briefly. He said that he saw the lot and thought that if a retaining wall was built it presented possibilities. He knew fill was available as the lot was close to the Bowker Creek job site.

He cashed a bond and made a deposit on the land, he said, and a day or two later was told that the property was worth more and that he would not get it for $1,500.

They had said that if these demands were not met, there would be marches and demonstrations.

Mayor John Nossor and the board of aldermen conferred with Negro leaders at city hall for more than two hours. Afterwards, the board announced it will "make no concessions to any group under duress or intimidation."

The racial crisis erupted here with unexpected suddenness last Friday. It was touched off by the booby-trap bombing of a civil rights leader in his car. The victim, George Metcalfe, suffered leg, arm and facial injuries.

Why Gilbey's London Dry weds perfectly with Bitter Lemon.

The answer is remarkably simple.

Some gins have rather strong flavouring. Others are utterly tasteless. But Gilbey's London Dry has a perfect balance of flavour for mixed gin drinks.

In fact, Gilbey's dry flavour has been an international favourite since 1873. Quite a long time.

Gilbey's London Dry marries joyfully with the sharp new taste and lively bubbles of bitter lemon.

Prove it to yourself. Tonight.

Your Good Health

Deep Post-Natal Depression Likely Case for Psychiatrist

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: A young relative recently had a baby and both she and the child almost died. She seemed to recover normally. However, she has such a strong attachment to the baby that she won't let anyone hold him. She feels that no one can take care of him properly except herself.

She resents having company, hates her mother-in-law beyond reason, and her husband, whom she loved dearly, seems to be having a conflict as a result.

In this something that happens after a birth? Like "baby blues"? I know some mothers get them, but this seems to be the extreme opposite. — MRS. C. M.

This certainly doesn't sound like post partum depression. But it is obvious that the young woman is suffering from a severe emotional problem.

For everybody's best interests, I would report to her doctor what is happening, with the likelihood that he in turn will favor consulting a psychiatrist.

Dear Dr. Molner: How can I get rid of blackheads? What causes them? I've tried squeezing them and they turn into pimples. I wash my face twice a day and use a beauty lotion. I eat greasy food, fried potatoes, chicken, potato chips, etc. I know I need a properly balanced diet, but what else? I'm 15 and desperate. — B.T.

First, correct one factor you know is wrong — your diet — before you start hunting for "medication."

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 12 years old. My mother won't let me have cola drinks because she thinks they contain caffeine or other harmful materials. Are colas harmful to children? — STEVE N.

Yes, pal, cola drinks DO contain caffeine, but I don't know of anything else in them that is "harmful." I won't even say that caffeine necessarily is harmful. Sometimes it is; sometimes not.

Young fellows like you are naturally full of energy. You don't NEED anything to pep you up — nothing, that is, except plenty of wholesome food and sleep. In fact, your young energy wears us old folks out.

Older people, even real old ones like me, and I'm past 50, don't have your bounce. We can use a stimulant (or stimulant) that has been found. That's why we like our coffee, or tea, which contain caffeine, or our cola drinks, which also contain caffeine.

I'm with your mother, Steve. You have youth, which gives you what it takes to buzz. Give you caffeine, and you'll stay awake too long, and not go to sleep to build up your natural, automatic energy.

Make a deal with your mother: One cola on occasion won't hurt you. But a boy of your age who drinks several a day will get too wound up and wear out too soon. Wait until you are older before you rely on the lift you get from caffeine.

Swap Proposed For Experts On Northlands

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has made a formal proposal to Russia for a continuing exchange of scientists in the fields of northern construction and transportation.

The announcement, which has been hinted at ever since six Russian construction engineers arrived in this country 18 days ago, was made by Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing at a farewell luncheon for the Soviet delegation here Thursday.

The leader of the Russian group, Andrei I. Slivinsky, said he agreed "such an exchange for scientific observation of problems of common interest" would be very useful to both countries. He indicated his country would accept the proposals as outlined in a letter from Mr. Laing to the Soviet government.

At a press conference following the luncheon, Mr. Laing elaborated on his earlier announcement. It was the hope of his department that there could be an immediate exchange of one scientist from each nation.

SUGGESTS INCREASE
The Canadian note, Mr. Laing said, also suggested an exchange in 1966 of three-man delegations. These delegations, too, would be interested in permanent problems.

The Canadians would be able to study the "Soviets' mas" of northern construction at Norilsk, a city of more than 130,000 above the 69th parallel, he said.

At Norilsk, the Russians are building nine-storey apartment blocks on piles of reinforced concrete.

Los Angeles To Get Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson ordered federal agencies Thursday to expedite $29,000,000 worth of educational and other programs in Los Angeles to meet problems pointed up by the city's Negro riots.

Johnson acted on recommendations submitted to him in an interim report from Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, head of a special task force which the president sent to Los Angeles last week.

"Based on the recommendations in Mr. Clark's interim report, the president has ordered approximately 45 individual and community self-help projects to be expedited," the White House said.

"Involving federal grant funds of about $29,000,000 these projects are specially tailored to assist all of the sections of Los Angeles in need of help," it added.

The White House said the projects were "authorized under existing federal programs and will make use of available funds."

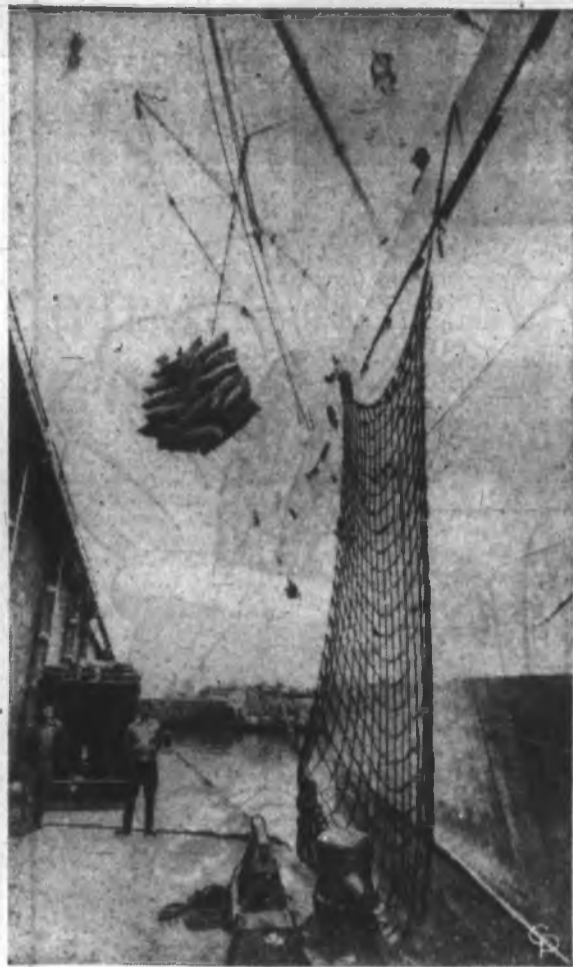

"With these projects, Los Angeles will receive a part of its equitable share of federal funds. In line with grants available to other cities, and will remain eligible for future grants," the announcement said.

to this modern city in the far North is Inuvik, a communications and administrative centre of less than 3,000 population at about the same latitude. At Inuvik Canadian engineers have built on piles of timber steamed through the permafrost.

NOTHING TO OFFER

Mr. Slivinsky did not make clear just what the Soviet Union hoped to gain from the exchange. He has said all along that Canada was doing a good job in the North but "you have nothing new to offer."

At the press conference Thursday he said Russia was not "very interested" in Inuvik, but that his country's engineers might like to study construction methods at mining and other industrial sites in the Yellowknife and Pine Point areas of the Northwest Territories, well below the Arctic Circle.

Costly U.S. Shipping Strike Over After 78 Idle Days

NEW YORK (AP)—Crews returned Thursday to ships that had been strikebound for 78 days, signalling the end of one of the longest and costliest maritime walkouts in U.S. history.

Deck and radio officers, who had removed their picket lines Monday, voted Wednesday to ratify four-year contracts agreed on in Washington sessions.

FOLLOWED SUIT

The 12,000-ton freighter American Crusader, owned by the United States Line, cast off from her Hudson River pier Wednesday night. More of the approximately 100 idle ships in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports followed suit.

Incomplete results showed members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots (AFL-CIO) voting heavily for the new contract. Officials of the other striking AFL-CIO union, the American Radio Association, said their members also voted overwhelmingly to end the strike.

Sleeping Sickness Subsiding

By The Canadian Press
Health officials agreed Thursday night that a sleeping sickness outbreak on the Prairies is subsiding. The disease is spread by mosquitoes and cooler weather has resulted in a decrease in the number of mosquitoes.

A survey Thursday showed there were 124 suspected cases in humans in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, four suspected deaths of humans and about 400 suspected cases in horses.

Saskatchewan had 96 suspected cases in humans, Alberta 20 and Manitoba eight. Alberta had three suspected deaths in humans, Manitoba one, and Saskatchewan two.

The U.S. Maritime Association, losses to the companies, the union estimated the strike cost strikers and other employees more than $150,000,000 in direct losses by the walkout.

Anglican Synod

Colleges' Standards To Be Investigated

VANCOUVER (CP)—The legislative body of the Anglican Church of Canada, expressing doubts that the church needs 10 colleges to train its priests, Thursday ordered an inquiry of the colleges' standards.

The closing session of the 22nd annual synod was told that some of the colleges have fewer than 10 theology students each. Across Canada there are about 250 students.

NO POWER

Until it voted itself authority over standards Thursday, the synod had no power over the colleges which were either wholly independent or under diocesan control.

A synod inquiry during the next two years will study each college and report on its "economic and academic efficiency." The inquiry committee will be free to recommend that the synod recognize only certain of the 10 colleges.

The final day of the nine-day synod also set up machinery to provide four regional boards of selectors to screen candidates for theological training. Until now most of the colleges received students on the sole recommendation of bishops.

On its final day the synod also urged bishops to permit experiments for "liturgical explorations" in the church's form of worship.

Insurance Violation Brings Fine

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Alex Barisenkoff was fined $10 in magistrate's court here Wednesday for failing to apply for a social insurance number.

Barisenkoff, a chimney sweep pleaded guilty to the charge.

He was the first person in the Vancouver area to be fined under the Unemployment Insurance Act regulation requiring employers and employees to apply for social security numbers.

Time for Decision

AFTER MONTHS of deliberation and the study of a diversity of proposals, the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee recommended to the four municipal councils concerned the construction of a sports stadium as a joint project to mark the 100th anniversary of Canada's confederation. Then, at the first meeting of the intermunicipal committee, came rival suggestions from Victoria and Saanich for the site of the development, and indication that a stalemate might ensue.

Briefly, Victoria has offered what might be called the Topaz Avenue site of 25 acres, while Saanich suggests a 40-acre tract in the Burnside-Tillicum area.

The one advantage of the Saanich site is in its size.

The recommendations for the Victoria alternative are considerably more impressive.

In the first place, agreement on the Victoria site—owned by the city—would allow an immediate start, whereas in Saanich it will be necessary to secure the approval of ratepayers for an estimated $400,000 expenditure for land purchase, which, of course, cannot be guaranteed.

The inevitable delay in this case would very likely leave little more than five months in which to prepare a stadium for the first of the centennial events: the Royal Canadian Mounted Police musical ride, scheduled for September next year.

But the most impressive argument in favor of Victoria's proposal is in the area of finance. Mayor R. B. Wilson has pointed out that funds from the Thomas McPherson estate, a generous $600,000 of which are available for the centennial stadium, cannot be spent outside the city's limits. The money would not be available for a Saanich project.

So it boils down to this: a Saanich stadium would have to be built with the basic $450,000 centennial grant, apportioned to the four Greater-Victoria municipalities, whereas Victoria would have the grant plus the McPherson estate funds with which to operate.

It is doubtful, indeed, whether the centennial grant would be adequate to build even a small stadium in Saanich. The Victoria estimates include a 3,000-seat grandstand costing $600,000. But the whole stadium park concept would cost in the neighborhood of $1,137,650, according to Mayor Wilson's figures.

The Topaz site is attractive, distinguished by wide-spreading native oaks. Playing fields already exist there. The additional drainage and grading that would have to be done could be quickly completed.

Access is easy, from Quadra and Rose Streets. The city would purchase some eight acres of adjoining land to extend the present property to Finlayson Street, contributing about $203,000 for this purpose. This would ensure space for later developments, anticipating a second playing field and a 20,000-seat stadium in the future.

On the basis of Mayor Wilson's plans it is estimated the cost would be some $80,000 in excess of funds immediately available. But included in the city estimates is a sum of $100,000 for contingencies; so it might very well happen that the whole job can be completed without asking a single additional dollar.

Splendid as the Saanich land may be, and generous as the municipality's offer is, the choice should not be difficult when the advantages of the city site to the Greater Victoria community are weighed.

What is needed is a quick decision. It is time to get on with the job.

A Contradiction

IN THEIR mutual interests it is a pity that Mr. Diefenbaker and his former defence minister, Mr. Harkness, still remain at loggerheads. The Conservative leader has for his part appealed for a reconciliation in the name of the party, but Mr. Harkness appears to be adamant.

This is the more regrettable since it was the acquisition of nuclear arms, which Mr. Harkness wanted, that was the main bone of contention and the prime cause of his resignation from the Diefenbaker cabinet. The country now has nuclear weapons and so this issue no longer exists.

In relation to the party to which he belongs the position of Mr. Harkness is most peculiar. There was the strange spectacle in the last election of him running under the Conservative banner and yet campaigning as strongly against his party's leader, Mr. Diefenbaker, as he did against the rival political groupings seeking him and all other seats.

Apparently he intends to be colored by the same attitudes, for he will run again as the Progressive Conservative candidate in his riding of North Calgary. There are probably as many within Liberal ranks who favor another leader rather than Mr. Pearson as there are Conservative dissidents about Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership, but the Liberals are more clever in keeping such differences under wraps. They "present" a unified front in public.

It seems difficult to see how Mr. Harkness can serve his party while openly disagreeing with his party's leader, and under the party system that governs our political scene there is a loyalty due from those who carry the colors of a party to the individual who is the recognized and official head of that party. Otherwise there is an anomaly that is inconsistent with party unity.

If Mr. Harkness finds it impossible to support the Conservative leader then obviously he should not be standing as a parliamentary candidate in the name of the Conservative party. He should run as an independent. That would be the more honest course and remove him from the contradiction of his present situation.

Storm Over Asia

CHINA has delivered to Great Britain a note which, offensively worded, is at once a protest, a rebuke and a grave warning.

Britain, Peking charges, is allowing the United States to use the Crown colony of Hong Kong as "a base for their war of aggression against Viet Nam."

Simultaneously China's chief of state, Mao Tse-tung, has assured the North Vietnamese that his country will fight to defeat the United States in Viet Nam.

It is difficult to gauge Peking's true intentions. But it would be folly to treat its statements lightly. Hong Kong is very vulnerable.

The note to Britain underlines Peking's intransigence and its increasing hostility to all the West. It is a slap in the face for the peace-seekers and it adds still another element to the turmoil that besets all Asia.

"Just let the varmints spoil Peyton Place tonight!"

Silence Spreads Across the Land

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

THERE have been three strangely sudden zones of political silence in these recent days of waiting for the election decision.

The silence has been so deep, so utter, that, as they sometimes say, you could almost hear it screaming, silently.

It's as if those occupying these three zones, and up to the last few weeks they have been anything but silent, were holding their breath, painfully and in agonized expectation, waiting for Prime Minister Pearson to say the word.

The three zones:

1. Quebec City . . . where neither Premier Lesage nor Resources Minister Rene Levesque has so much as whispered about opting out of anything federal, or said so much as a soft word about the present or future demands for the special privileges of associate status, as they previously spoke of it.

2. The Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism . . . which hasn't sounded in weeks its warning knell that Confederation, unless it mends its wicked ways, is on its death-bed.

3. The anti-Diefenbaker wing of the Conservatives . . . from which there hasn't been the faintest echo of that hullabaloo of only six months ago that what the party needed urgently was a leadership convention.

All three are easily understandable.

The Royal commissioners, especially its two key men, Mr. Davidson Dutton and Mr. Andre Laurendeau, like Premier Lesage and Rene Levesque, are royal members of the Liberal family.

And while it may be expected that the younger members of the family post and scream and kick and generally cut up like spoiled kids when things are going along relatively smoothly on an even political keel, they close ranks and behave themselves lest they harass or embarrass him when the head of the household is on the verge of a critical make-or-break decision.

And it's much the same with the anti-Diefenbaker faction in the Conservative establishment.

Basic instincts of political self-preservation compelled them to silence.

Much as they have plotted against him these past few years and still detest and deplore him, they knew that until the election dust settled they were stuck with him.

With the election decision hanging in an apparently delicate balance in these recent days, it was far too late to think again about a late fall or early winter leadership convention to replace him.

Not a finger has been lifted to do anything about the convention that only last February seemed just months away.

For the first time since 1962 suddenly, not a hand turned against him anywhere in the Conservative establishment.

Conservatism, as apart from the party rank and file, twice and openly has attempted and failed to assassinate him.

It got to the point that they were even calling him, and not so grudgingly, either, Dief the Chief again.

And it really wasn't altogether a case of their being stuck with him.

Not completely against their will, that is.

Stuck in one sense they may have been—but perhaps in the special circumstances, just a bit relieved and not altogether unhappy about it.

For as the election uncertainty built in increasing political tension through these last few weeks, the only one who appeared completely satisfied with the way things seemed to be working out was the Old Warhorse himself, snorting and pawing the ground in happy anticipation.

To Dief the Chief, the prospect of heading out on the political warpath meant doing what comes best and natural.

You could almost hear him humming, through his open Centre Block Parliament Hill windows, a swinging light-hearted, joy-to-the-world chorus or two of Happy Days Are Here Again.

The prime minister has never made any secret of his utter loathing of elections. He hates the grinding, personal, physical nature of those nine or 10 completely exhausting weeks crisscrossing the country by train, plane and motorcade. He despises the nonsense of exaggeration and repetition, the saying over and over again of the same things in only slightly different ways. He dislikes the fatiguing person-to-person, en masse intimacy of it. And Mrs. Pearson has made it quite plain that she feels the same way.

But to Dief, this is what politics is all for. It's everything.

Pipeline Pilots

By ARTHUR COLE from Baden-Snellings

THERE is a new look at being a 104 pilot. At closing speeds in excess of twice the speed of sound, there's no time for anything more than an extra shot of adrenaline to the heart when a pilot spots an approaching aircraft.

When Canada changed its air units in Germany from a strictly defensive to a strike-attack and reconnaissance role, the whole picture changed. And with the changeover came complications which, at first glance, must have seemed almost insurmountable.

Previous flying was largely high altitude. Now it is strictly low level for both reconnaissance work and in the strike-attack role. And when they talk about low level here, they aren't kidding. It means anywhere beneath 500 feet, often as low as a couple of hundred feet in an aircraft which has a 1,400 mile an hour capability.

The strike role of the Canadian squadrons here and at Zweibrücken requires the delivery of nuclear weapons; the attack role, the delivery of conventional weapons. All targets are assigned by Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE).

When Canada decided to make the drastic change, the Royal Canadian Air Force felt it necessary to collect the best flying experience, maturity and intelligence possible to man the CF-104 Super Starfighters, the latest aircraft in the Free World's hands. So it isn't unusual to see Starfighter pilots whose hair is receding a bit at the temples but with the look of experience in their eyes at the two Canadian bases.

The pipeline pilots are comparative youngsters of 21 or 22 who have been selected and trained specifically for flying the Starfighters since the changeover to a possible nuclear role.

"It was an entirely new field for us," said Air Commodore Richard C. Stovel, chief of air staff at Air Division Headquarters in Metz, France.

"However, we are fully operational now and we feel we can stand with any force in Europe. There can be no excuse now for not doing our job in performing either a strike or reconnaissance role."

The new Starfighter pilots go first onto Tudor trainers built by Canadair and replacing the old Harvard trainer, then to T-33 jet trainers, F-84 Sabres and finally to the Super Starfighters at Cold Lake. Then they come to the European theatre to take their places beside the veterans. Probably fewer than 10 per cent are "new breed" pilots so far.

"If we had any concern initially about the capabilities of these young flyers, we certainly haven't now," said Air Commodore Stovel.

It is felt that the three-year tour of duty for low-level pilots is about the maximum.

Here at Baden, Canadian-built strike-attack planes are only about eight minutes' jet time from the Iron Curtain.

It's not a restful occupation,

the election dust settled they were stuck with him.

With the election decision hanging in an apparently delicate balance in these recent days, it was far too late to think again about a late fall or early winter leadership convention to replace him.

A Close Look Suggested

YOUR HEADLINE, "Navy still losing men" and the ensuing explanation, is a sad commentary on the manner in which politicians and the lap dogs with which they are surrounded can veil the truth of the situation. Confirmation that all is well in the service is then sought from two very young seamen in Ottawa.

With all due respect to those two young men's opinion, it must be remembered that not more than 60 per cent of seamen have any desire to make the navy a life career. They serve their five years and get out.

What should be exposed and very closely examined is the large number of highly-qualified officers, lieutenants and lieutenants-commanders in the 25- to 35-year age bracket, "the cream of the crop," who, discouraged and disgusted at the lack of future prospects and a tattering service morale, are leaving the Navy in very large numbers.

They take their drive and ability into civilian life, where it is appreciated, and leave in senior ranks and high places the seafarers, the yes-men and the politicians.

We were donors to the Jubilee Hospital extension fund several years ago. Lately there has been much written about more hospital expansions at both our major hospitals and the building of a new one on the outskirts somewhere.

Recently a friend has been told she will have to wait a month before she can occupy a bed anywhere for two nights only, and another was unable to obtain shelter, much needed, after an accident when she went for emergency, and was forced to go home.

Several months ago there were long arguments in the paper as to why part of the Jubilee was (and, we gather, still is) empty, with a long waiting list of patients. A variety of reasons was given for this, the chief one being that sufficient nurses could not be obtained to work the wards.

Does this mean that the new hospital and extensions will be "do-it-yourself" institutions? If so, why not use what exists at the Jubilee first?

While we are on the subject of raising funds (probably largely out of the taxpayer's money), what has happened to the 3 per cent purchase tax that we are all still paying? Is it still being used for hospital purposes? Unless the public gets more information on all these matters there will be no more money for the hospital.

Australia Fears
British Pull-Out

By JOHN PRINGLE from Sydney

AUSTRALIANS are beginning to wonder whether Britain may leave them in the lurch in Southeast Asia for the second time in 25 years.

The first time was in February, 1942, when Singapore surrendered to the Japanese, leaving the way open for the invasion of Indonesia, Papua, New Guinea and, it seemed at the time, Australia herself.

Stunned by that disaster—15,000 Australian soldiers were taken prisoner—Australia turned unhesitatingly to the United States for help. Help was given and the Japanese were turned back. Australia was never invaded, though Darwin and Broome were bombed.

The events of those days burned deep into the Australian consciousness. From that time it has been the consistent aim of all Australian governments to commit the U.S. to the defence of Australia and if possible to the defence of the Southeast Asian peninsula leading to Australia.

That is the real reason why an Australian battalion is now fighting with the Americans in Viet Nam. The war in Viet Nam is not popular here and rouses great disquiet among intellectuals, but the majority of the nation undoubtedly thinks that if that is the price of American support, then it is well worth paying.

Many Australians never really believed that Britain would reappear as a military power in Southeast Asia. When she did so there was satisfaction modified by some skepticism—how long would she stay? Serious observers never a large part of the nation—know that if it had not been for Britain, Malaysia would have been taken over by the Communists after the war and if it were not for Britain now, Indonesia would already have overrun North Borneo and possibly the rest of Malaysia.

There has been genuine if grudging admiration of the British military effort when compared with Australia's own rather puny contribution to the Commonwealth forces, but very few Australians believe in Britain's rule "east of Suez." They know what it is. There is also widespread resentment, even in the government, at the way the MacMillan government hastened the birth of the Malaysia

Federation without giving time for proper consultation and without examining all the "consequences."

What Indonesia began her policy of confrontation there were many who felt and said that Britain had tricked Australia into supporting a policy which was against her own interests. This criticism is much being muted by Indonesia's aggressive imperialism during the past year, but there are still those who feel that Australia cannot afford to offend her huge neighbor just to please Malaysian Prime Minister Abdul Rahman or the British government.

All these feelings have been stirred violently by the secession of Singapore—Singapore is already an emotive word for Australians. Does this mean that British strategy in Southeast Asia has once again collapsed? Have not Australian fears about the Federation been proved correct? Moreover, the secession of Singapore came immediately after Defence Minister Healey's warning that Britain must reduce her commitments overseas and his hint that in Southeast Asia Australia and New Zealand would be expected to take them over.

Professional anglophobes, of whom there are always some, were quick to say that Britain, having embroiled Australia in a war with Indonesia, was on the point of clearing out and leaving it all to her offspring.

Most Australians, however, realize that the situation is much too serious for recriminations. The real question is, What can be done now? So far the government has said little, preferring to pretend that nothing very much has changed and that everything will go on as before. But will it?

As long as Britain maintains a large force in Southeast Asia far larger than anywhere Australia herself can supply at present—then no doubt Australia will continue to support her, even if with some grumbling and misgiving. But if Britain intends to withdraw all or part of her forces, a crisis is likely for, since Australia herself clearly cannot guarantee the security of Malaysia against Indonesian attacks, then either Britain must do it or confrontation itself must be brought to an end.

A Call for Help

By DONALD KIRK from Hong Kong

NORTH Viet Nam is feeling the economic and manpower strain of the war in the south. The evidence comes from Hanoi itself.

A series of trade and aid agreements with Communist countries signed in June and July is assumed to have afforded some temporary relief, enough, in the assessment of observers here, to put off any likelihood that North Viet Nam's leaders are ready to accept unconditional negotiations.

China has promised to provide "whole sets of installations" and supplies in the national defence and economic fields, observers say. The Soviet Union is apparently only implementing or renewing existing pacts; but agreements have also been signed with Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and North Korea.

The terms of these agreements have not been published, and observers here give two probable reasons: one is that North Viet Nam does not wish to reveal the extent of its economic weakness and dependence upon its "fraternal socialist comrades"; the other, that North Viet Nam wishes to discourage comparisons between Soviet and Chinese aid in the hope that the two countries will unite in giving help.

But the extravagant public welcome given to these agreements is a pointer to North Viet Nam's unease.

The National Party daily newspaper Nhan Dan has hailed them for creating "conditions for reinforcing the economic and defence forces of our people."

Vice Premier Lee Thanh Nhd, who led the economic delegation to the Communist bloc, has cited the "splendid success of visits in the political, economic and national defence fields."

What counted, most, he declared, was "the unanimous approval of the just struggle of the Vietnamese people."

Hanoi's rejoicing has a more somber contrast in recent warnings of its leaders.

The first secretary of the Viet Nam Workers' Party, Le Duan, who is No. 3 in North Viet Nam's hierarchy, has written in Hoa Tap, the party's theoretical journal, that the entire country is faced with "an extremely serious situation as a result of the American air raids."

He claimed that some comrades were refusing "to undergo sufferings and hardships in order to win."

He also accused officials with economic and political power of misusing their functions, called them "debauched and depraved," and said some officials were "unable to tolerate that they themselves are not leaders."

In the party's military newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan, a writer has urged "strong changes in ideology, organization and attitude in order to step up logistic tasks and ensure victory."

Military officers must not "neglect the economic and financial aspects of their work."

The military's failure to realize financial problems, he said, would

Why Bennett Is Going to Italy

By IAN STREET

B.C. tempers what at times appears to be its extreme regionalism with a willingness to look abroad for new ideas and capital.

We proudly claim the title of Canada's most outward-looking province. The fact that this grandiose designation is self-bestowed, I suppose, does detract somewhat from the image.

But this doesn't mean that it is entirely unmerited.

Evidence the fact that within a few weeks the peripatetic premier is off to the U.K. and Italy and Trade and Industry Minister Lofmark heads a B.C. trade delegation bound for northwestern Europe.

Both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Lofmark were members of the strong cabinet delegation that returned from a special mission to the Far East in June. Last fall the premier was in Austria and Britain. And so it has gone in recent years.

There has been a characteristic flamboyance attached to the premier's upcoming official visit to Italy. Much as Mr. Bennett loves a secret he's not to blame. These matters must be handled within the bounds of diplomatic protocol.

There were the usual coy references to visiting an unnamed European power followed by a report from Ottawa that the premier had left a federal-provincial conference to lunch at the Italian embassy. After that the actual announcement of the Italian visit, some time later, was an anti-climax. Italy is a good trading partner but not by any means one of the best. Why should the premier choose to visit this country at this time?

The answer, I believe, lies partly in the fact that B.C. exports to Italy promise to achieve an all-time record this year.

year and partly because Italians have been doing some high powered selling in this province and plan more of the same in the future.

The export picture looks particularly bright this year. Total value of exports through B.C. ports, which it must be remembered include large shipments of rapeseed and barley from the prairies, in the first four months of 1965 topped $7,100,000.

Last year the full 12-month export total offy reached $10,200,000 down from the $12,300,000 of the year before.

The balance of trade, at the moment, is very much in our favor. Imports through B.C. ports from Italy last year amounted to a little more than $2,800,000. There are no comparative figures for the first four months of the current year.

Main import items are clothing, mainly for women, which last year amounted to nearly $500,000, cheese $219,000, maraschino cherries $118,000, wines $137,000, sheet glass $170,000, autos $104,000 and prefabricated structures and parts $125,000.

It hardly seems worth getting even mildly excited about. Especially since the balance of trade is sharply in our favor. But Italy, which ran into a huge deficit of trade balance in 1963, and struggled back to a surplus last year, is out to win overseas markets everywhere.

A large trade mission to Canada headed by an Italian cabinet minister visited B.C. in June during a cross-Canada tour. The mission, sponsored by the Italian department of foreign trade, was here to drum up more machinery business.

The Italian industries represented ranged from plastics and pharmaceuticals to marble working and petro-chemical equipment.

There has recently been a marked increase in imports of Italian capital goods. An Italian firm has supplied equipment for a new chemical plant. And with the rapid growth of secondary industry in this province more buyers are becoming interested in Italian machine tools and other industrial equipment.

So, when Premier Bennett goes to Rome he'll be selling his line of partnership in B.C.'s growth to Italian investors, and Italian manufacturers will be lobbying like mad for the sale of their equipment for factories that are springing up here.

With luck the premier may even get another scroll to hang on his wall like the one he brought from Austria.

That time it was the Golden Commander's Cross of Merit for the province of Lower Austria, with Star. The award was in acknowledgement of his outstanding merit on behalf of lower Austria, but the scroll didn't elucidate.

'Family' Advice Unheeded Kashmir Crisis Puts UN On Trial Again

By HAROLD MORRISON, from London

The power of the United Nations is once more on trial over the crisis in Kashmir.

The Kashmir crisis, allowed to simmer for years, has erupted into what appears to be the beginning of a full India-Pakistan war that could spread and embroil all Asia if not halted promptly.

Britain, Canada and other Commonwealth countries had hoped that both Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan would heed family advice.

Britain has been working behind the scenes to urge both leaders to cool their national pride and move back from the brink of disaster. Attempts towards conciliation have failed.

The United Nations now is grappling with the issue and at the moment there is no indication that U Thant, the secretary-general, can wield more influence over the Asian antagonists than Britain or the Commonwealth.

For the first time there appears in the issue the elements of a fatalistic gamble on the part of Pakistan. For years Ayub Khan has tried by various means to get India to agree to some final, acceptable solution to the Kashmir issue.

There was some indication that the late Jawaharlal Nehru was edging towards negotiations. The Pakistan president may have believed that Nehru's successor might be even more ready to get a final settlement.

But Shastri has shown he has a backbone of iron. Attempts by Kashmir guerrillas to infiltrate the Indian side of the cease-fire line have been repulsed. There is no doubt among many Western observers that this initial infiltration attempt had the support of Pakistan, which in turn may feel it can turn to China for help if the Kashmir flareup should turn into full war.

India now has moved a step further by invading and seizing strongholds on the Pakistani side of the cease-fire line, perhaps feeling that in the event of full war, New Delhi could count on help from Moscow.

Pakistan says it won't allow India's "aggression" to go unchallenged. There appears to be no immediate solution in sight.

One hope among British authorities is that Moscow and Peking will make their positions clear. Both India and Pakistan might be less eager for a full showdown if they were told they could expect no help from Soviet or Chinese quarters. There is some question, however, whether China will attempt to discourage Pakistan. Indeed, China may want to encourage Pakistan to settle an old feud with India.

Big Powers Warned

Sweden Threatens To Create N-Force

By ALAIN de LYROT, from Stockholm

Sweden will develop its own independent nuclear defence system if attempts to prevent nuclear proliferation are a failure, according to Swedish Defence Minister Sven Andersson.

"Sweden would already have an atomic force if it had really wanted one," Andersson stated in an interview.

"We have the technical know-how, we have the financial means and we have gone as far as we wished in research, short of producing prototype weapons," Andersson said.

A leader of Sweden's majority Social Democratic Party, Andersson is adamantly opposed to the development of a Swedish atomic force unless circumstances force such a decision.

Some of Sweden's military men—notably the supreme commander of its armed forces, Gen. Thorsten Rapp—are believed not to share entirely the government viewpoint. They advocate the development of prototypes.

This, in their view, is consistent with Sweden's traditional defence policy which has been based on the maintenance of a strong, well-trained and well-equipped modern army sufficient to deter any rash attack.

Andersson said several nations of Europe, including Switzerland and Spain, as well as such other countries as Israel and Egypt, could probably produce a nuclear force.

"If Sweden went ahead with the production of nuclear weapons, this would encourage such nations to do likewise and you can imagine the result," he added.

Andersson feels that it is up to the world powers to lead the way in disarmament talks and to follow up on the nuclear test ban treaty.

"By pushing forward our planning and research in the nuclear field we are giving the big powers a hint of what could happen if they don't step up their nonproliferation efforts," he said.

Uchuck III docking at Gold River

Coastal Freight Boat Links Island Outposts

By DON HUNTLEY
GOLD RIVER — The Uchuck III, a combination passenger and freight vessel, operates from Gold River on the west coast of Vancouver Island, up the long narrow rock-faced inlet, serving many isolated communities for 40 miles up the coast.

She is one of the last of the intriguing coastal freight boats that poke its nose into every little wharf and boom-stick landing, carrying freight and passengers.

The skipper, Eason Young, turns his vessel around at Zeballos, the northern end of the run. Having delivered all his freight and passengers, he starts on the return trip, never knowing quite how long it will take to return to Gold River.

TWO-WAY RADIO
In the wheel-house the two-way radio is turned on and calls from many logging camps, fish scows, Indian villages or lighthouses may break in at any time asking him to make a stop.

While Mr. Young busily manoeuvres his vessel between the small islands, he keeps up a steady commentary on points of interest to the tourists on board, while one ear is cocked to the radio for messages. An Indian from Friendly Cove may call him to ask him to watch out for engine parts for his fishboat on the next trip to Gold River.

A logging camp makes an urgent call asking him to pick up some broken equipment to be sent to Campbell River for repairs.

At every port of call, tourists and regular travellers alike line the rails to watch the crew open the hatch for the crane to swing the freight and supplies across the landing.

Greetings and shouts pass between the boat and the shore as neighbors recognize each other. They very rarely meet.

The Uchuck III is not just wood and steel but a skipper and a crew which bring a real lifeline along the inland waterway of the west coast.

The motor vessel and its skipper started their west coast service a number of years ago at Port Alberni, serving the isolated communities between Bamfield and Tofino. When logging roads were opened to the public the Uchuck III steamed north to Nootka Sound to serve another frontier badly in need of service.

Five days a week she travels north from Gold River to Tahsis, a large and growing sawmill community at the head of Tahsis Inlet. She cuts through a narrow passage past Esperanza, the only outpost hospital on the west coast, then up Esperanza Inlet to the mining community of Zeballos. Three days a week during the summer months, after disembarking her passengers from the regular run at Gold River, she takes on a new role. In conjunction with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Parlor Tours, she takes tourists on a sightseeing tour down Murchison Arm, out across Nootka Sound to Friendly Cove, the historic Indian village where Captain Cook made his first landing on the shores of British Columbia in 1778.

Here, in this sheltered little cove, the Spanish once established a settlement for nearly six years. Then at this same spot Spain relinquished her rights of land ownership in Canada to Captain Vancouver in 1792, under the Nootka Sound Convention.

BUY SOUVENIRS
In this historic and picturesque cove, passengers may be fortunate enough to purchase hand-woven baskets or carved masks. If the Friendly Cove residents just happen to be interested. However, they may only see passengers being loaded over the side from a ladder to a small skiff.

On the return run of this five-hour round trip, the ship passes the old Nootka Cannery and circles around Bligh Island where Captain Cook's crew once became the first loggers and exporters of timber from British Columbia, when they replaced their masts and repaired their ships from the tall timbers of Resolution Cove.

The motor vessel slows as it pulls in close to the sheer cliffs of Murchison Arm while the skipper points out to the passengers Indian paintings that were put on the rocks so many years ago that no one knows their origin.

The return to Gold River brings you back suddenly to the hustle and bustle of industry where a new pulp mill is rapidly replacing a small logging camp at the head of Murchison Arm where once there was only an isolated Indian fishing camp.

Cowichan Lake Open to Hunters

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Outdoors Editor

B.C. Forest Products and Western Forest Industries announced Thursday they will open their Cayuse, Gordon River and Mead Creek logging operations in the Cowichan Lake area to hunters and other recreationists during non-operational, non-hazardous times, which means weekends and holidays, starting this holiday weekend.

All main logging roads will be open, but side roads to active logging areas will be barred by "no access" signs and recreationists are placed on their honor to obey. In recent years these areas have been open only under the fish and game access program.

The entry of the Cowichan Lake area for general public access means that all main logging operations on Vancouver Island will now provide public access, at least in the hunting season.

Sooke area logging companies announced public access a couple of weeks ago. Pacific Logging in Cowichan Lake announced earlier its 16-Creek and 19-Creek operations would be open for public access.

This year more hunters on Vancouver Island will have more land to hunt than ever before and because of the tree farm licence and sustained yield policies of B.C. this happy situation is likely to stay forever.

Hunters are being invited into the forest lands, but the hunters will be on trial. If they don't behave themselves their freedom of movement could be curtailed. If they do behave themselves they are likely to get better access, even picnic and campsites.

Access in the Sooke and Cowichan Lake areas will be 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. In MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River operations the gates are not closed at the weekends, but no camping is allowed.

Maps of the new access area in Sooke will be available at the Sooke gates and at Stan Williams' and Robinson's sporting goods stores in Victoria.

Taps Full on Salt Spring

By BOB FETHICK

While Victoria beer supplies dwindle to a mere trickle that threatens to dry up by Labor Day, Salt Spring Island residents appear to be living in a land of plenty.

Word from Harbor House in Ganges Thursday evening was that draft beer would last until at least Tuesday. Residents don't seem too concerned about any shortage. In fact, tap room proprietor Tuppy Agar said his sales were down about $100 from the week before.

"We are just having the usual run. No one is too excited," said Mr. Agar.

LOOKED AFTER

"One of the reasons could be I told the local boys they would be looked after," he said. There would be no big off-premises sales.

Mr. Agar added another reason sales could be a little slow: it's between paydays. The liquor store on Salt Spring Island also seems to be beyond the shortage pinch. A good stock was reported, even though there were a number of off-island customers.

The ferry for Salt Spring leaves Swartz Bay every two hours. It is a nice trip but there isn't much hope of stocking up. There is a strict limit of one case to a customer.

So far the lack of a heavy run on liquor sales due to a beer shortage indicates beer drinkers would rather go thirsty than switch.

Liquor sales were reported from normal to a slight increase, but this was attributed to the long Labor Day weekend.

At least one complaint about service was received by the Colonist Thursday. The complaint reported being served a bottle of beer of a brand he didn't like.

"That's the one kind I can't drink," he told the waiter.

That was the last he saw of the beer. The waiter is reported to have said "You're not drinking, buddy," and whipped the beer away.

There were apparently other brands available.

While a few city pubs managed to keep their doors open Monday looks D-day for Victoria.

And then the smart ones who bought their malt, hops, yeast and sugar and put down a batch of home brew 10 days ago will be laughing. They may even find they have more friends than ever before.

Car Accident Kills Child of Scientist

The infant child of a Japanese scientist attached to the Forest Research Laboratory on Burnside Road is dead and the scientist is in serious condition following an accident 30 miles west of Calgary Tuesday.

Mariko Iwao, 14 months, was the only child of Dr. and Mrs. Syumiti Iwao, 3532 Tillicum, Mrs. Iwao, who suffered shock, is reported staying with friends in Calgary.

Dr. Iwao is on a National Research Council fellowship at the forest laboratory. He came to Victoria in December and was followed by his wife and baby in April.

The accident occurred near the junction of the Coleman-Kananaskis highway.

LAWNS

By far the cheapest and best fertilizer for your lawn and shrubs is weedfree topsoil. If applied as a top-dresser (one yard for every 600 sq. feet, it will after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made in the days not so long ago when we had not yet heard of chemical fertilizers. Topdressed lawns are, moreover, far less vulnerable to weeds and, most important of all, require less watering. One 50 lb. bag of chemical fertilizer costing $4.00 contains only 8 pounds of plant food. In comparison, you can buy for the same $4.00 2,500 pounds of weedfree topsoil, of which every pound helps to build up a good lawn.

When buying topsoil insist upon soil free of weeds and clay. The cost of de-weeding is such that apart from the health hazards involved it does not pay to buy topsoil containing seeds of weeds.

Two inches of weedfree topsoil are also minimum requirements for making a good weedfree new lawn. For best quality topsoil that is free of weeds and clay, contact:

Harem Found At 'Church' In Brooklyn

NEW YORK — Police have discovered a harem in the heart of Brooklyn with 11 women, seven of them pregnant, and 47 children fathered by the same man. The bizarre domestic arrangement came to light as the result of a search for the bodies of three women who may have been part of the harem of a self-styled bishop, 41-year-old Negro ex-convict Deveron Legrande. Legrande was arrested on charges of kidnapping, assault and illegal possession of a revolver and narcotics. He told authorities he had only 12 children by one of the "sisters" of his "church." But Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Panarella said this was a modest estimate of his fatherhood. "This man keeps his alleged nuns in locked cubicles, keeps a loaded revolver, and makes a home for 47 children—all his," Panarella said.

BALTIMORE — Former Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev has been in hospital for more than a month, the Baltimore Sun's Moscow correspondent Stephen Nordlinger says.

TORONTO — Former Communist MP for Montreal-Carter, Fred Rose, 58, maintained in a phone call from Warsaw he didn't do anything in the 1940s to harm Canada's interests while working as an undercover agent for the Soviet embassy in Ottawa.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Mrs. Jeanette Rothberger, 81, who graduated from the University of Arizona last year, died. She was a popular student on the campus, where she always wore tennis shoes and became known affectionately as Grandma.

DAWSON CREEK — Premier Bennett says the provincial government is still willing to pay one-third the cost of paving the Alaska Highway.

TOKYO — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai says Peking "will never allow the United Nations to poke a hand into the Viet Nam question."

SEASIDE, Ore. — Edward Elmer Smith, who wrote 14 science-fiction novels, has died in this coastal resort town at the age of 75. His best-known work was a 1928 book entitled The Atomic Bomb.

LONDON — The death of Sir Harry Hyton-Foster, Speaker of Britain's House of Commons, has set off renewed speculation over an early general election.

VANCOUVER — An "intensive, unofficial" inquiry is under way at Vancouver General Hospital into the case of a young Japanese-Canadian woman, Jane Ryujin, 21, who died 24 hours after she was rescued from a near-drowning, a coroner's jury was told by Dr. George Saxton, a surgeon at the hospital.

LONDON — For Bettina, the railwayman's daughter who became a Paris model, society figure and the longtime companion of the late Aly Khan, life was perfect—except that Khan never married her. However, in her autobiography Bettina, just published, she writes: "Never once did he fail to treat me as a wife."

AUCKLAND — New Zealand's Lawson quintuplets, born five weeks ago, now are out of their incubators permanently and in cots in hospital here.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson applied his famed "treatment" tactics to the deadlocked steel talks. He personally appealed to both sides for a quick settlement that would avert a strike, then arranged to have meals sent into the bargainers so they could keep working.

PARIS — Vice-Admiral Emile Muselier, commander of the Free French Navy and air force in the Second World War, has died at 63 in the navy hospital at Toulon.

SEATTLE — Wayne Hatcher who can't walk a foot swam a mile in a pool to celebrate his 12th birthday. It took three hours and 55 minutes for the 72 laps, but for a lad who has been a polio victim since he was 10 months old, it was an Olympian feat.

SPACE CENTRE, HOUSTON — Space champions, Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad came home all smiles from their 3,300,000-mile flight to hug and kiss their wives and children and announce, "It's good to be back."

MOSCOW — Soviet Defence Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky says U.S. atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki were not a "military necessity." He said Russia's declaration of war against Japan was the event that ended the Second World War in the Pacific.

BELGRADE — United Arab Republic President Nasser and Yugoslav President Marshal Tito met for the second time to discuss the Viet Nam war and other international issues.

TEL AVIV — Former prime minister David Ben-Gurion, 78, has been expelled from the Mapai Labor party which he founded 35 years ago.

$2,000,000 in Stolen Bonds Recovered

MONTREAL (CP) — Possibly more than $2,000,000 worth of bonds stolen from a bank vault last spring have been recovered by police as the result of a telephone tip.

The bonds were found Wednesday night tightly packed in a suitcase and several cardboard boxes, in a field north of Metropolitan Boulevard off, Christopher Colomb St.

The robbery was staged the weekend of April 10-11 at a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada in the Van Horne shopping centre. There were six men at the time that the total loot may be as high as $3,000,000.

A team of eight detectives worked Thursday testing the recovered bonds for fingerprints and tabulating them by serial numbers and denominations.

CANADA SAVINGS

They said the total value of the recovered bonds may be well more than $2,000,000. The bonds, most of them Canada Savings Bonds, range in denomination from $50 to $10,000.

Detective - Insp. Roland Perron of the Montreal police department when a telephone call came through about 1:30 p.m.

EXPECT CALL

The caller said: "Be in your office between three and five o'clock this afternoon. I'll have something to tell you that's plenty big."

Insp. Perron waited until 5:30 p.m. There was no call. He left for an appointment at city hall, then went home to dinner.

PUT IN FIELD

Concerned that the promised call may have come in his absence, he returned to his office. But the call went to his home. The caller was told the inspector was at headquarters.

The caller reached Insp. Perron at 8:10 p.m. He was told that the bonds were being put in the field. The caller said, "I'm not interested in the reward."

REWARD

The bank had offered a $25,000 reward for arrest of the perpetrators of the crime.

The robbery set off a worldwide hunt for the robbery gang. Two men were arrested in Plattsburgh, N.Y., when they tried to cash travellers' cheques taken in the robbery.

A Winnipeg man was picked up for the same reason at a Hamburg, N.Y., racetrack.

ARRESTED

A Vancouver man was arrested in England when he tried to cash $500 worth of travellers' cheques at Hove, Sussex.

Joe Bedard, chief security officer for the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Montreal, said Thursday that no direct link between the picked-up men and the robbery has been established and the cases have not been proceeded with. Charges of receiving have been considered.

The robbery was one of the largest in Canada, believed to rank second only to the robbery May 3-4, 1958, at the Brockville Trust and Savings Co., in Brockville, Ont. Final count of the loot stolen from vaults was $3,300,000.

Dodgers Ahead Again

Reds Boot Themselves from First

Pennant pressure hit Cincinnati Reds like a bad case of the bends last night, and cost them first place in the National League.

An unearned run set up by a Cincinnati error in the 11th inning gave Milwaukee Braves a 4-3 victory over the Reds, dropping them back into a second-place tie with San Francisco Giants. Los Angeles Dodgers, meanwhile, regained the lead they lost Wednesday by whipping Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-1.

Eddie Mathews opened the top of the 11th with a single for the Braves. Frank Bolling tried to sacrifice him to second, and pitcher Ted Davidson threw wildly to first base as Mathews dashed to third.

The runners held as pinch-hitter Billy Cowan lined to first, but pinch-hitter Mike de la Hoz hit a deep fly ball to center field and Mathews beat the relay home.

PIRATE LOSE

The pressure also got to the Pirates a little as the Dodgers snapped a three-game losing streak.

Jim Lefebvre, who drove in four runs with two singles and a double, singled home two in the third after an error and two walks left bases loaded. In the fifth, a wild pitch by Bob Veale got Ron Fairley to second, and Lefebvre singled him home.

Claude Osteen won his 12th with a five-hitter against the Pirates, who had won nine of their previous 11 games. They dropped 3½ games behind the leaders.

The Giants started Juan Marichal for the first time since his suspension, and he lost, 4-3, to Philadelphia Phillies. But the Giants came back to take the second game, 5-2.

Chris Short won his 15th in beating Marichal, and singled home the winning run.

Giants got lucky in the second game. With the score tied 2-2 in the ninth, pitcher Jack Bald-schun threw a wild pitch and Ken Henderson scored from third. Jack Hiatt's single and a sacrifice fly by Jim Hart brought in the last two runs.

Ernie Banks got the 400th home run of his career to lead

Chicago Cubs to a 5-3 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

Minnesota Twins squandered a game and a half of their American League lead, leaving 16 runners stranded in a 3-4 loss to Detroit Tigers while second-place Chicago White Sox were beating Baltimore Orioles, 5-3 and 9-5.

So Long, Boys From Ol' Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel said goodbye again Thursday but this was a special farewell to New York Mets' players in the privacy of their clubhouse at Shea Stadium.

The 75-year-old convalescent, who retired last Monday as manager of the National League cellar-dwellers on doctor's advice, limped into the players' dressing room, perhaps for the last time, after taking part in a ceremony on the pitcher's mound during which his number 37 uniform was retired.

"This is gonna be the shortest speech I have ever made," he promised, as he stood in the center of the clubhouse, supported by his crooked, black cane. He was surrounded by eager but silent players.

"Naturally, I want to thank the players who have been here the longest," he said, his voice cracking with emotion. "Those of you who have played here four years, you weathered the storm. Good or bad, you survived."

Stengel shifted his feet, placed the crook of the cane into his left pocket, and faced the players without support. It was an obvious demonstration that he could stand, unaided, on the hip he had broken while getting out of a car July 25.

"Some of you newer players are correcting things that were wrong with you, physically and mentally," he resumed. "I know, because I've been watching you on TV."

"Now some of these good clubs can't play good in August and September. You fellows might make a great finish."

When Stengel finished, Glen Cisco, the Mets' player representative, told him "on behalf of the players, I want to thank you for all the help you gave us. You've done a terrific job. Your progress was more than ours. It was a pleasure to play for a man of your stature. You got us off the ground and we appreciate it."

Stengel smiled and said, "I

Lions Use 'The Bomb' To Destroy Bombers

LIONS 14, BOMBERS 7

WINNIPEG—B.C. Lions got their bomb back in working order last night, and this time it exploded in the faces of Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The bomb—that long, long pass play from Joe Kapp to Willie Fleming—clicked for a 94-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter that gave Lions a 14-7 victory in about the toughest game of the season. From there the defence took over and held the Bombers on downs at the Lions' 15 yard line in the final minute.

It was the first victory for Lions in three tries against the Bombers this season, and it came on a play perhaps no other halfback in the country could make.

Bombers' Ed Ullmer had punted for a single point that apparently gave his club an 8-7 lead, but a rough play penalty nullified the play, Ullmer kicked again, and Lions took over

Fullback Bill Mumsey was thrown back to the two-yard line, and on the next play Kapp, apparently trapped in his own end zone, ran out to the 15.

Mumsey ran for six, and Kapp threw the bomb.

With Bombers all around him,

he simply reared back and threw as high and as hard as he could. Bombers' Brian

Palmer, covering Fleming, took one look and slowed up, because no one was going to get

TURNED IT ON

No one but Fleming, The Lion

speedster turned it on, actually outraced the ball to catch it on the Bomber 45-yard line, juggled

it briefly, and jettied away to score untouched.

The touchdown pass was the only one Kapp completed in the second half of a rough defensive game. And when it counted, the Lions' defence was just a bit

GRABBED THREE

Lions intercepted three of Kenny Ploen's passes. The first, by Kenny Ploen in the first quarter, stopped a Bomber drive at the Lions' 13-yard line. The second, by Neal Beaumont, was at the Lions' 25 on the last play of the first half. And the third, by Steve Shafer, came on the first Bomber play from scrimmage

Lions opened scoring in the second quarter, marching from the Bomber 46-yard line on seven plays, with Pat Claridge making a fine catch at the three and Mumsey going over in two

and it was 7-0.

GOT IT BACK

Bombers got it back on their next series. Ploen, running 18 yards on two plays himself up-der great pressure from Dick

Fouts, finally hit Billy Cooper with an 11-yard touchdown pass, and Jackie Simpson's convert ed it.

That was to be the only scoring play until the bomb—

the play Kapp has been accused of trying too often this year. But this time it worked perfectly, and Lions found themselves only one point behind the Bombers and Calgary Stampeders, sharing third place with Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Bombers play in Calgary on Monday, and Saskatchewan is at

TOP GAINER

Mumsey's 61 yards led a B.C.

ground attack that thrust for 173 yards last night, and Kapp was good on seven passes of 16 yards. Bombers had a total offence of 291 yards.

Leo Lewis, who caught a 52-yard pass from Ploen to get the Bombers' down to the Lions' 15-yard line in the last minute, was his top receiver and Cooper caught five passes for 45 yards.

No Protest By Rocks

Officials of Victoria Shamrocks have changed their minds, and will not protest Junior Shamrocks' 11-7 loss to New Westminster Salmonbellies in the B.C. junior finals here Wednesday night.

The win gave Salmonbellies the series, 3-1, but Shamrocks protested over a major penalty handed the Shamrocks by referee Jim Falles.

"We still feel we were right," a director said. "But there are two different rules in the book, and Falles called the play according to one."

"It's just another case of the rule book being full of holes."

Coquitlam Team Gains First Win

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Coquitlam scored its first victory in three games of the Western Senior Lacrosse final here Thursday night, walloping New Westminster, 9-3.

It was a lacklustre affair in which the heavily-favored New Westminster team showed little spark and almost no finish around the goal.

Only the solid goaltending of Les Norman saved the score from going higher against New Westminster, which many had figured would take the best-of-seven final in straight games.

Fourth game of the series will be played Saturday night.

McKibbin, Rod Kidduff, Ken

Odly and Mike Gates got the others.

Chief Sejka.

Comedian Plans New Act

'I'm Busy Now, But It Was Tough to Get Back'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—George Jessel was wearing undershorts

Not Much Choice For Hobson Fans

Stage lighting at the McPherson Playhouse failed to function Thursday night minutes before the curtain was due to rise for the final performance of Hobson's Choice.

Director Allan Purdy offered the audience of 238 the choice of sitting tight or getting its money back. The entire audience cheered and remained. Stage was lit by the nearest auditorium lights, which were unaffected.

It was the second time in one week that this has happened. Mr. Purdy made his decision to kill stage lights after seeing blue smoke and flames come out of back of a dimmer panel in the lighting room.

Second and third acts were played with emergency stage lights.

"When I realized I was home only three days a month, I sold my other houses and moved out here," he explained as he paced an X-like pattern through the small rooms.

Jessel seemed impatient to don his clothes and fly off to Miami Beach or Haifa to address a luncheon or plant a tree. He took a dip in the pool instead.

FOUR INCH SCAR
He returned in bathing trunks and displayed a four-inch scar on his left thigh.

"Flicked that up in Viet Nam just recently," he explained. "Snipers. We were coming off a plane and they opened up from across a rice paddy. Also picked up a bug of some kind. Can't shake it."

"I'm going to be Jackie Gleason's talent ambassador," he said. "I did two or three shows with him last year and they were so successful that he asked me back for 13 this season."

WILL SCOUT TALENT
"I'll be going to 13 different American cities to find talent to appear on Gleason's show."

Jessel also plans to tour with a new act composed of himself, Sophie Tucker and Ted Lewis.

"We did fantastic business in the East," he remarked. "It's amazing when you consider that Sophie is 82, Ted is 77 and

George Jessel

I am 67; together we are older than the United States."

Another enterprise is a public relations firm he heads. "Yes, I'm busy now," he said, "but it was tough for me to get back. You know I quit performing for 11 years when I was producing movies. Regret it? No. My only regret was that I didn't quit after I had made 10 hits. I made eight flops after that, and I was dead."

"Yes, other performers have had their highs and lows. But they didn't go broke in between, as I did. Take Jolson. There was a time before The Jolson Story when he couldn't get work. But he still ended up with $6,000,000."

Calgary Police Instructed Not to Prosecute Dancers

CALGARY (CPI)—The attorney general's department in Edmonton instructed its Calgary agent not to prosecute charges of holding an indecent exhibition that might have been laid against the African Ballet, Calgary Police Chief Ken McIver said Thursday.

Chief McIver said he was told by the department's Calgary agent, Edward Adolphe, that Mr. Adolphe had been instructed by deputy attorney-general John Hart in Edmonton not to prosecute.

The Wednesday night performance received high praise from Calgary newspaper critics. The ballet, organized by the government of Guinea in 1948, has toured some 200 countries. No charges were brought against the troupe at recent appearances in Vancouver and Edmonton.

Chief McIver said in a brief announcement that no charges would be laid against either the ballet or its Calgary sponsor.

CONTRIVERSY
Women members of the troupe appeared bare-breasted at a show before 2,762 persons at the Southern Alberta Jubilee auditorium Wednesday night. A second show was scheduled Thursday night, apparently because of interest triggered by controversy surrounding the ballet.

Singer Faces Charges

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Singer Helen O'Connell, 43, faces trial Oct. 18 in municipal court on charges of driving under the influence of drugs and driving under the influence of non-narcotic drugs. Miss O'Connell pleaded innocent to the charges Wednesday.

The singer was taken to hospital Aug. 8 when police said they found her unconscious behind the wheel of her station wagon after she was observed driving erratically.

Miss O'Connell claimed she fainted while driving.

Snag Seems Possible In Stadium Finances

The city's plan to funnel $600,000 of the Thomas McPherson estate fund into its proposed 1967 centennial stadium project could run into a serious hitch, members of the municipal council finance committee were told Thursday.

Comptroller-treasurer James Bramley, while not questioning council policy in the matter, wondered if proper clearance had been received from the provincial department of municipal affairs.

Such clearance is necessary, he explained, because the estate has not yet been actually turned over to the city. This will not be done, by the terms of the bequest, until December, 1967.

Until that time the city is able to draw money from the inheritance only by borrowing against it. If $600,000 more is taken it will mean that total borrowings from the estate of approximately $3,000,000 will amount to $1,350,000.

"In May of this year the city manager, Mr. Young, and I talked with the deputy minister of municipal affairs, Mr. Brown, about the possibility of borrowing further against the estate," said Mr. Bramley.

The whole policy of borrowing from the bequest made to the city by Mr. McPherson was discussed briefly. Mr. Bramley referred to his comments when the budget was approved in the spring.

HEAVY SHARE

He said at that time that the city was bearing far too heavy a share of recreational costs for the whole district, and that a more equitable division would be desirable.

"Well it seems to me that somebody is going to be in very serious trouble about this estate if we should ever run into a recession," said Ald. Robert Baird, who was presiding.

"I have never thought that borrowing against this estate should ever approach half its value. This would be very unwise, in my opinion and I am in that business," he added.

VULNERABLE

It was also pointed out that the estate is in one or two stocks which would be vulnerable in the event of a recession. The city's equity could be sharply reduced in a falling market.

Matter was tabled for further investigation.

Students Face Shifts

Failure to complete an addition to Margaret Jenkins Elementary School on schedule will put some classes on shift for about a month, Greater Victoria School Board Trustee Les Karaglanis announced Thursday.

Steel needed for the construction has not yet arrived from the east, he explained.

Guard Case Adjourned

The trial of Kenneth Russell, former night guard at the juvenile detention home, has been further adjourned to Sept. 10 in city magistrate's court.

Russell is charged with unlawfully pointing a revolver at two inmates during a rumpus at the home.

Pearson Party Poses Problem

The city treasurer thinks it's about time civic receptions and similar affairs followed some sort of a pattern — and members of council finance committee agree.

James Bramley said Thursday that more and more often he gets bills coming at him from all directions without proper authorization.

When he knows the circumstances, he said, he has them paid, at his own discretion, but it is time a more formal approach was made to the whole problem.

"Surely a man who is running a $12,000,000-a-year business should not have to be hampered in the matter of $1,200," said Ald. Michael Griffin.

"We have no reason to complain of Mr. Bramley's judgment in the past. It has, in fact, been excellent. Why not just carry on?" he asked.

"Not at all. These things should go through formal channels, even if only for protection of the treasurer," said Ald. Clyde Savage. City Manager Dennis Young and Ald. Lily Wilson agreed.

However, in future, budgets will be set up, even if they are only tentative.

Bridge Results

Winners of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's recent game: Section B, Joan Strank and Betty Miller, 2. Edna Stewart and Dorothy McConnell, 2. In Vaddington and Chris Murray, 4. Violet Hawes and Gwen Brown, 3. Lillian Goodwin and Les Isaacson, 4. Gwen Humphrys and Ruby Randewine.

Section B: 1. John Bowden and George Marsden, 2. Lillian McMicking and Mike O'Brien, 3. Louise Duncan and Paul Smith, 4. Elizabeth Warren and Eric Goodwin, 5. 1101 Ida and Vince Clark, 6. Marjorie Fortys and Mike Champion.

There were 71 tables in play.

The City of Victoria Invitational Individual Championship will be played at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Saturday at 1012 Douglas Street.

One thing about daily newspapers:

they talk a fella's language

So much happens so quickly these days that a lot of things could sail right over a fella's head. But they don't. Thanks to the daily paper. In this rapidly changing world, the daily newspaper keeps you up to date; and goes right on talking your language. Yes indeed, whether it's a new art form or a design for a rocket ship, you look to your daily paper to learn about it.

In fact, some 53% of Canadians read their daily paper for just that reason: "as the best way to keep up their education", according to a survey validated by the Canadian Advertising Research Foundation. Of course, they read the paper for other reasons too. For homemaking hints. For sports and financial news. For information about local social events. For theatre and TV listings. And for ads.

Yes ads. Daily newspaper advertising is news. News about products and services. So Canadians use their daily paper as a shopping guide (83%). They prefer newspaper ads to ads they see and hear elsewhere. Because they find newspaper ads less irritating (92%) and more reliable (41%).

When you talk to people through the daily newspaper, you're talking their language. And that's a mighty smart move. Especially if you're an advertiser.

Oak Bay Stirred

Storm Waxes in Paper's Teacup

The Oak Bay community newspaper, The Leader, has suggested that living in Oak Bay is not as soft and easy as it is made out to be.

The paper was answering a recent editorial of the Colonist commenting on the "shocking news" that tea drinking in Britain is "on the wane."

"It is true, as the Colonist surmises, that per capita tea-drinking in Oak Bay surpasses the 8½ cup per day regimen which now seems to obtain in Britain," said The Leader.

"A tea-time survey leads The Leader to believe that our consumption is more like 10 cups a day . . . and that this proposition appears to have been steady back into and through the war years and beyond.

"The Colonist is terribly wrong in suggesting:

● That stress could have any effect on tea consumption in a population where repose what is left of the stiff upper lip tradition and;

● That life in Oak Bay is easy, notwithstanding 1,032 TV sets, 1.81 radio sets, 88.2 refrigerator and 88.5 per cent of an electric range in each home. The Leader said.

"Gad! has the rag no concept of the war being waged daily in this outpost of Empire on such subjects as high rise, the Mother Cecilia animal shelter, fluoridation and Andy Capp?

"We wish the Colonist would consult an authority, that is to say, The Leader, before publishing such drivel," it added.

Two Youths Drown In Lake

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Two youths who were on a fishing expedition were presumed drowned when their boat overturned and tossed them into Khatada Lake, 40 miles southwest of here.

Word of the mishap was given police Wednesday night when two other members of the fishing party reached here by plane.

The missing youths were identified as Rory McNeice, 19, and Allan B. Christison, about 18, both of Prince Rupert. Dragging operations were carried out Thursday.

Biggest Catch So Far

Biggest salmon weighed into the Colonist...King Fisherman Contest this year is this 61-pounder caught this week in Campbell River's Tyee Pool by Dave Lossette, manager of the Tyee Spit Camp. His big fish almost dwarfs the 42-pounder he caught on the same trip.

King Fisherman

Sportsmen Get Try At Various Derbies

King Fisherman Contest anglers will have three additional fishing derbies to compete in on Vancouver Island this holiday weekend.

Esquimalt Anglers' Association holds its three-day derby in waters from Clover Point to Albert Head Saturday, Sunday and Monday with weigh-ins at the club's headquarters at Fleming Beach at the foot of Kinner Street.

QUALICUM CLUB

Qualicum Beach Fish and Game Club holds its three-day derby at the weekend with $50 for the heaviest coho, hidden weight prizes and trophies. Boundaries are Englishman River to Deep Bay.

Alberni Valley Tyee Club holds its three-day Tyee Derby this weekend with $100 and trophy for the biggest fish each day; $25 and trophy for the second fish and $15 for the third biggest fish each day and an extra $25 for the heaviest fish of the three days.

REMINDER

Derby anglers are reminded that as well as enjoying their fish into weekend derbies they should make sure they are also entered in the King Fisherman Contest.

Judging from recent King Fisherman entries, fishing should be good at any of the three derby spots.

Doctors' Parking Problem

The question of whether or not doctors should be given "special consideration" in the matter of parking tickets remained unresolved Thursday following a meeting of city council legislative committee.

Police Chief J. F. Gregory will be asked to come up with a recommendation.

Dr. Derek Rogers got a parking ticket while attending an emergency heart patient. He paid the penalty and then sent the ticket to the chief of police for a refund.

SENT IT ON

The chief, not wanting to set a precedent, sent it on to the council committee.

"The doctor is standing on principle. Obviously he is not without a buck," said Ald. Michael Griffin.

"I think he has a strong case and perhaps we should explore the whole question of special consideration for doctors."

Ald. Robert Baird saw plenty of trouble ahead in that direction. He agreed that it would be highly improper just to "fix" the ticket and thought further investigation a good thing.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: You seem to believe in psychiatry, which is nothing more than talking people out of mental illness. If this can be done successfully, why can't people be talked out of cancer?

Before you say it's impossible, may I tell you I've known for a long time that all illness begins in the mind. If the mind is healthy, the body is healthy. Even psychiatrists say a sick mind can make a well person sick. So why can't a well mind make a sick person well?

There seems to be a lot of foundation money around for research. Can you help me obtain a grant for this project? It could save millions of lives. Thank you.—TRUE BELIEVER

Dear Believer: Sorry, I have no influence over foundation money. You are correct when you say a sick mind can make a well person sick. A prominent Minnesota physician estimates that over 60 per cent of the patients in hospital beds today are there because of illness which began with an emotional problem.

Cancer, however, is defined as the uncontrolled multiplication of cells. Many cancers, when discovered early, have been destroyed or removed and the patients' lives are saved. Psychiatry, which has to do with the exploration and ventilation of emotional problems, cannot stop cancerous cells from multiplying.

Some cancers have been known to "disappear." Such cancers were "self-limiting" which means the body had set up its own immune reactions. (The quacks have a ball with these cases.) Such phenomena have been explained by medical science and are not "out of the blue miracles," so please don't write and tell me about Aunt Matilda who was cured of cancer by hocus pocus.

Dear Ann Landers: Several days ago my husband and I had dinner in the home of a friend.

For dessert this woman served a delicious banana pie. When I asked her for the recipe she replied, "I'm sorry but it took me a lifetime to collect my recipes and I don't give them out."

I felt as if I had been slapped across the face. I have not spoken to this woman since and I'm not inviting her to a party we are giving next month. My husband says I'm behaving like a child. We want your opinion.—N. J.

Dear N. J.: The woman is not depriving you of something to which you are entitled. The recipe is hers and she told you she didn't wish to share it.

She is a better friend than the babes who don't want to share their recipes but don't have the nerve to admit it and then double an ingredient here and there or leave something out.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a prominent business man and I work as his secretary. His son by a former marriage comes to the office at least twice a week and walks by me without even speaking. It is apparent that his mother has done a thorough job of poisoning his mind against me.

The boy's father has taken care of all his college expenses, bought him clothes and a car. I feel that I have contributed, too, since I work in my husband's business.

This whole ugly situation has come to a head because the boy is being married next month. My husband has been invited to the wedding. I have not.

Some of my friends say I should go to the wedding with my husband as a matter of principle. What do you say?—NUMBER TWO.

Dear Number: No principle is served if you show up at an affair to which you have not been invited. The "friends" who are urging you to crash the wedding are looking for a little excitement at your expense. Stay home.

Picture Loan Opens Sept. 7

The Picture Loan season at the Art Gallery will open on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. Added to the collection this year are four new oils by Ethel Planta of Ottawa and three more flower paintings by Victoria's Emily Sartain. The Picture Loan, sponsored by the Women's Committee, is for Art Gallery members. Anyone wishing to become a member should contact the Art Gallery for information.

These "before and after" photographs dramatize the possibilities of carefully planned renovations. A variety of complementary colors of arborite decorative plastic laminate covers the shapely vanity which houses a new, smaller hand basin and provides needed storage space. The new wall is also of arborite decorative laminate in the beige Florentine Marble pattern. This material, which is resistant to stains and marking, needs only the wipe of a damp cloth to restore its attractive finish.

Newlyweds To Live In Toronto

A motor trip to Toronto where they will make their home, followed the recent marriage of Geraldine Yee and Mr. Bill Mar at St. John's Anglican Church.

Canon George Biddle officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chu Ping Yee, 3059 Larkdowne Road, and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mar.

The elegant simplicity of the bride's floor-length gown of silk faille was accented by appliques of Guipure lace and seed pearls outlining the empire waistline and three-quarter length sleeves. The gown's demi Asline skirt fell into a gentle train. The bride's self-fabric crown, encircling her chignon of curls, was enhanced with lace and seed pearls to match her gown and was made by her mother. Her chapel-length veil was hand rolled. White gladiolus and yellow rosebuds were in her cascade bouquet.

Mr. Yee gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Carolyn Nip, maid of honor, was in a floor-length gown of peach colored peau de soie featuring empire waistline overlaid with lace appliques on tone. She wore a matching headdress of silk organza rose petals over net. Bridesmaid, Miss Janette Woo of Vancouver, wore a similarly styled gown in apple green and a matching headdress. They carried cascade bouquets of tangerine carnations set inside gladiolus.

Little Miss Karen Mar, groom's niece, as flower girl, wore an apple green frock of sheer nylon over orange taffeta. She carried a white basket of carnations and gladiolus.

Mr. Gerald Quan was best man. Ushering guests to their seats were Mr. William Wong and Mr. Darryl Mar.

A reception followed in the Tally-Ho Motel dining room.

For travelling the new Mrs. Mar chose a three-piece walking suit in turquoise and emerald green basket weave. She wore a turquoise velvet hat with veil on tone and black accessories.

Mrs. Bill Mar, the former Geraldine Yee, poses for this attractive wedding picture.

Vancouver Wedding Of Interest Here

Of interest in Victoria was the news of the recent marriage in Vancouver of Canon Grahame Brinkworth Baker, new rector of St. John's Anglican Church, and Miss Heather May Ireland.

Dean Northcote R. Burke and Bishop Godfrey P. Gower officiated at the full choral ceremony in Christ Church Cathedral for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Ireland of Vancouver and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs.

E. E. Baker of Bristol, England. Sprays of heather were intermingled with gold and white chrysanthemums at the altar. Holy Communion was administered to the bride and groom during the service at which time the Cathedral choir sang Blessed are the Pure in Heart. Other pieces included Gloria in E-flat major, Deus Misereatur, and Puccini's Trumpet Voluntary.

Mr. Hugh J. McLean was organist.

Among those from Victoria attending the wedding were Mrs. E. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnston with Peter and Denis, Miss Nancy Johnston, Miss Hilda H. Ireland, Miss Audrey A. Ireland, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. H. Ireland, Miss Carole Norton Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Brown, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. M. Patterson, Mr. John Jamieson. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ireland of Calgary and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Baker with Marie, Heather and Carol, Langley, B.C.

Entering the cathedral on the arm of her father the bride was lovely in a princess style gown of white satin over tulle, accented with appliques of white roses. Her full skirt fell into a chapel train and a dainty floral headpiece held her shoulder-length veil. White heather edged the bride's bouquet of gold and white rosebuds.

Miss Leslie Ireland as maid of honor for her sister chose a floor-length gown of gold peau de chamois over tulle on tone and carried white rosebuds.

Full-length gowns of white organza over white tulle were worn by the six junior attendants, nine-year-old Maureen Hall and Elizabeth Watson, five-year-old Victoria and Ruth Preston and three-year-old Sandra Perry and Carolyn Ireland, the bride's nieces. They carried tiny bouquets of gold rosebuds.

Mr. William H. Preston was best man. Ushering were Dr. L. C. H. Ireland and Mr. D. J. Ireland, bride's brothers, Mr. Derek Mann and Mr. Peter Chappell.

Mr. J. W. Ireland of Calgary proposed the toast to his niece at the reception which followed in the University Club.

A cornflower blue tailored suit and toning petalled hat was chosen by the bride as her going-away ensemble.

Amelia Earhart

Only Woman Pilot In Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—We boast now and rightly so of man's eight-day endurance in space. But other pioneers whose names are vague history to the current generation were testing endurance, too, and laying the base for man's feats today, his steps toward landing on the moon.

Amelia Earhart was one of those. And in an interview, her only sister recalled the qualities that spurred Miss Earhart into becoming a flying heroine of the 1920s and 1930s and the first woman to solo the Atlantic (in 1928).

"When she made her first record," said Mrs. Albert Morrissey, "the plane was about this long." "This" was the sofa on which Mrs. Morrissey, 65, was sitting. The year was 1922, as she recalled, and Miss Earhart set an altitude record of 22,000 feet.

"The aviator was 'always the type of person who did the things she wanted,' Eleanor Earhart Morrissey recalled. 'I remember Mother would bake cakes and we'd take them to the field to eat while we checked wings. There were a lot of lean and hungry pilots always around.'"

Mrs. Morrissey said that if Amelia were alive she "would be vitally interested in our space program. I remember that John Glenn spoke of being inspired by her."

"In her day, too, she was testing physical endurance, mental adjustment to flight. She used to say that one day we casually would catch rockets to the moon."

Mrs. Morrissey, who lives in Medford, Mass., was in New York in connection with the opening of the women's hall of fame at the world's fair. Twenty women, 10 of them deceased, were named to the hall in a vote, sponsored by the Pines Corp., among women's editors of newspapers and magazines around the nation.

Miss Earhart ("Moely" to her family) was one of the 20, and the only woman pilot. The aviator, who flew in the open cockpit-helmet days, was last July 2, 1937, on an around-the-world flight with her co-pilot, Fred Noonan. They disappeared on the 2,556-mile leg of the flight between Ear, New Guinea, and Howland Island in the Pacific.

A naval search that lasted 23 days and repeatedly crisscrossed the area failed to turn up any trace, not even one bit of debris, as Mrs. Morrissey recalled.

Mrs. Morrissey, the wife of a manufacturer and grandmother of four, teaches English at Belmont High School in Medford. She has recently written a book about her sister, who was two and one-half years her senior. "Courage Is the Price" is its title and of Amelia today, Mrs. Morrissey said, "She did what she wanted. Her life was her greatest memorial."

There are several theories of the Earhart fate. One was that she and Noonan were captured by the Japanese and killed. Another: The plane ran out of gas and crashed.

"I don't see how anyone can believe she was captured by the Japanese," said Mrs. Morrissey. "Her radio at best could carry no further than 500 miles."

Jacqueline Cochran (a pioneer aviator also and a friend of Miss Earhart) thinks Amelia's plane was hit by lightning. I personally feel she must have overshot Howland. We know she must have been near Howland because the log of a coast guard craft (standing off Howland to guide the plane) showed her calls. It was the beginning of the monsoon season, too, and even if they'd been able to get into the small rubber boat they carried, it would have capsized.

"Another theory now advanced, is that the other side of Howland hadn't been charted before the Second World War, but maps since show a reef and a sandbar beyond the reef. In foggy, misty weather, she might have mistaken the sandbar for land and set down. The sand later washed to cover the plane."

"We may never know," said Mrs. Morrissey.

"I still get letters from people. A spiritualist from California wrote me the other day that Amelia 'hasn't crossed the divide. She is on an island, worn, unkempt, but teaching the natives...'"

Carr House Proposal Passed Along by City

Man Drowns In B.C. Lake

FORT ST. JAMES (CP) — Arnold Wayne Briggs, 21, of White Rock drowned Thursday in Stuart Lake near here. RCMP officers searched the lake for the body of the victim, who they said fell off a log into the water.

It's time the city stopped picking up the tab for adjacent municipalities, in the opinion of Ald. Michael Griffin.

"This place is going to be enjoyed by the whole district, so why should Victoria alone be asked to pay for it?" he asked as council finance committee considered a letter asking the city to contribute $15,000 towards the sale and renovation of the Emily Carr house.

The letter from the Greater Victoria Historic Buildings Foundation suggested that McPherson request funds be used. "We've been packing the load for this community for too long. It's time some of the carrying was done elsewhere. This is an intermunicipal committee matter," Ald. Griffin added.

Members of the committee agreed. To the intermunicipal committee it goes.

Janitor Steps Up — But Pay's Down

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — At a $350 annual cut in pay, Clarence Bradshaw, 33, is giving up his job as a school janitor to become a school teacher. Bradshaw will begin teaching Grade 6 at Highland Park Elementary School next week for $5,650 a year. He has been working as a custodian for $6,000 a year while attending night classes at Akron University.

Priest Made Club Chaplain

VANCOUVER (CP) — Father and principal, has been named John Massel, 37, an Oblate the first Chaplain to the Catholic priest with eight years' experience in Indian Study and Leadership as a high school teacher-ship Club of Vancouver.

Cubans Released

HAVANA (Reuters) — Premier Fidel Castro has agreed to British requests to release 19 Cuban refugees seized from Anguilla Cay in the Bahamas two years ago, authoritative sources said Thursday.

The first two were due to leave Thursday for Nassau and the rest were to follow in pairs at two-week intervals.

have been pressing the Cuban government ever since to return the 19 to Anguilla Cay.

The refugees, including women and children who left Cuba secretly, were spotted by Cuban planes and seized by a Cuban launch when they were already on the British island in August, 1963.

The incident, which involved a breach of international law, aroused considerable concern at the time, and the British government was understood to

Status Costs Town More

CRESTON (CP) — Cost of governing will rise by an estimated $12,000 when Creston is changed to a town from a village on Jan. 1, 1966. Officials said additional costs will result from welfare administration.

Canada Clarifies Geneva Speech

BONN (Reuters) — Canada said the government noted with satisfaction that the British and the United States governments gave similar assurances to all 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference it was announced here Wednesday.

The chief West German government spokesman said a West German query in Ottawa brought swift and satisfactory assurance that Canada did not consider Western security could be a subject for negotiation with Russia. The spokesman, reporting to a press conference on Wednesday's cabinet meeting here, said the government noted with satisfaction that the British and the United States governments gave similar assurances to all 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference it was announced here Wednesday.

Worker Hurt In Accident

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — George Medd, 51, suffered a fractured skull and abdominal injuries when he fell 20 feet onto steel rods while working at a construction project near here.

ings" about Canadian disarmament policy.

Canada's chief disarmament negotiator, Lt. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, said in a speech to the Geneva meeting Aug. 24 that the issue of preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear nations through NATO must be settled in negotiations by the United States, Britain and Russia.

The Burns speech was interpreted in Bonn as suggesting secret negotiations between the U.S., Britain and Russia on a NATO nuclear force acceptable to the Russians.

West Germany is pressing for a multilateral force in the Atlantic alliance in which it would share in the control of nuclear weapons.

The Canadian assurance will help to ease embarrassment to Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democratic party over searching attacks on Canadian and American proposals at Geneva by ex-chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the party chairman.

Two Await Janet At Church

LONDON (UPI) — Two men will be married to Janet Cowling at St. James' Church here Saturday. But the bridegrooms, Peter Fountain and Michael Goodall, aren't complaining.

By coincidence, Janet Cowling of Nottingham and Janet Cowling of London, who have never met, picked the same church and day for their weddings.

Millionaire's Ranch for Sale

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — This may be the perfect gift for that fellow who has everything: A Nevada ranch the size of Luxembourg.

The ranch of slain millionaire William A. Bartholomae, covering 300 square miles, is up for sale.

Included are cattle and coyotes, green irrigated valleys and desert mountains, 54 horses and a host of buildings. If you like space, it's roughly 66 miles from front door to back gate.

There are 20 buildings at the Fish Creek Ranch including a cottage, office, kitchen-recreation hall, bunk house, saddle and tack room and barns.

Scaled bids will be opened Sept. 7.

But the property has been appraised at $1,876,313.90, including land and leases, grazing rights, the horses, 2,220 head of Hereford cattle and $9,535 worth of vehicles.

The sale notice stipulates that the entire ranch is to be sold as a package.

Bartholomae, 70, was fatally stabbed in his Newport Beach, Calif., home Jan. 5, 1964, by Minola Gillardo, 32, a dancer from Spain. Her sister was married to Bartholomae's brother.

She was acquitted July 7, 1964, after testifying that the language barrier between her and Bartholomae led to a struggle and his death.

SNAKE IS COMMON

Canada's smallest snake, the Red Bellied Snake, less than 2 inches long, is found in most southern parts of Canada.

Two Generals Dumped President Takes Over

ACCRA (AP) — President Kwame Nkrumah has taken direct command of Ghana's army following widespread rumors that some generals wanted to depose him.

By taking direct command of the 10,000-man army Nkrumah left Defence Minister Kofi Baku with only the jobs of civil defence, the veterans organization and administrative work.

Nkrumah previously had taken direct command of his personal security battalion which acts as his household guard.

Ghana's special security police are Russian - advised. All other police have been dismissed since a young constable attempted to shoot Nkrumah in February, 1964.

His newly - appointed chief of defence, Maj-Gen. N. A. Afrer, and other senior officers then took an oath of allegiance to Nkrumah.

Nkrumah took over command of the army Tuesday in a ceremony at Accra's Burma camp.

Son Drown Despite Mother's aid

BERNIE (CP) — A Traill woman tried for 20 minutes Wednesday to breathe life back into her three-year-old son after he fell into Rozen Lake from a wharf.

Mrs. Michele DeVito jumped into five feet of water to rescue her son, Michele Jr.

Police said she gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until two first aid men from a lumber company nearby arrived to take over.

Two hours of artificial respiration failed to revive the boy, police said.

We know today that the miser is a mentally sick person, and that his avarice is a disease rather than a vice, a form of suicide more pitiful and degrading than hunger or drug addiction.

'Mud-Barge' Assists Science

By BOB FETHICK

A workhorse turned scientist chugged into Victoria Harbor Wednesday on her way to California from the Gulf of Alaska. Her large rear deck crammed with scientific gear, the 130-foot but chubby-looking M. L. Levy has been on a seismological odyssey off the coast of Alaska since May 27 and is now heading south to continue the work.

Priceless Ruby Recovered

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Multi-millionaire John D. MacArthur Thursday recovered the priceless 100-carat DeLong Star ruby from a roadside telephone booth. It cost him $25,000 ransom.

The irreplaceable gem, the last major stone to be accounted for in a theft 10-months ago from the American Museum of Natural History in New York, was recovered from Shylocks who had held it as collateral for a loan.

A spokesman for the First Marine Bank at Palm Beach Shores said the ruby was being deposited in the bank for safe keeping until it could be examined by museum officials and subsequently returned to New York.

Francis P. Antel, a free-lance magazine writer who lives in Palm Beach, was instrumental in recovering the ruby—stolen along with the priceless Star of India sapphire and 22 other gems last Oct. 29 by three Miami beachboys now serving prison terms.

The actual theft was carried out by Jack (Murphy the Surt) Murphy, Allen Kuhn and Roger Clark.

The recovery took place Thursday afternoon at a service plaza off the Sunshine State turnpike. MacArthur, accompanied by reporter William Federici and photographer Dan Farrell of the New York Daily News, went to the telephone booth described to them in detailed instructions.

Breaks Leg

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Paul Grimsey, 6, suffered a broken leg when he slid 50 feet down the side of a canyon after slipping beneath a safety fence.

Working for the Mobil Oil Company, the ship has been making the survey on a 24-hour-a-day basis with a crew of 28 men. Extra crew are accommodated in a house trailer on deck.

Two 1,000-horsepower diesel engines push her along at about 10 knots. The ship draws seven feet.

TRIGGER EXPLOSION
The survey operation is complete within the ship, unlike other seismological surveys of this type, which require more than one vessel.

Here is how it works:
Two paravane-like metal frames are lowered over the stern of the ship. Known as guns, the frames take a mixture of oxygen and propane gas through feed pipes and an explosion is set off by triggering a spark plug.

VIBRATIONS
Instruments aboard the ship pick up vibrations from the explosion, which gives information about the sea bottom and layers of the land structure under the bottom.

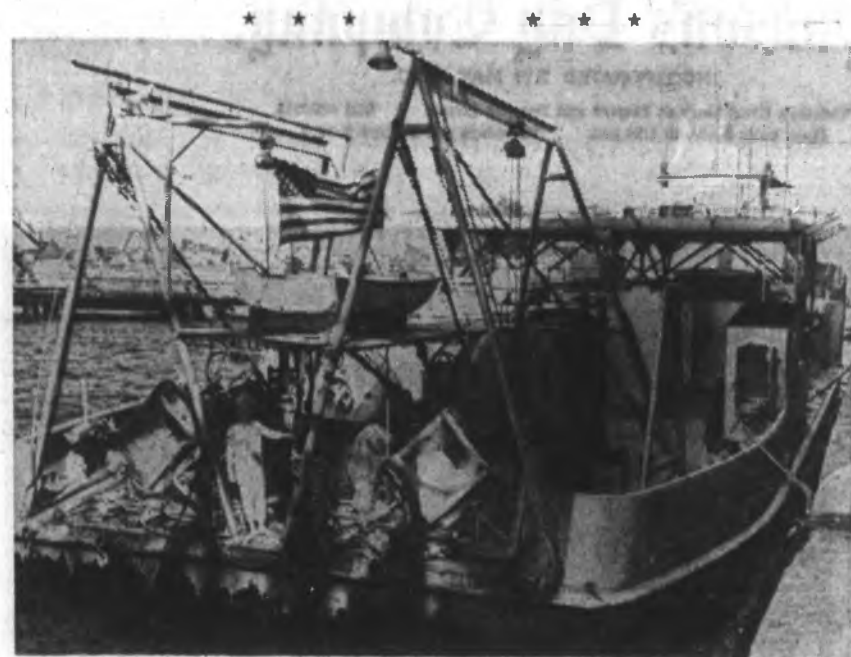

To maintain a busy round-the-clock schedule, the ship is equipped to stay at sea for a month at a stretch, coming into port only to take on water and fuel.

HELIPORT
A heliport built over the rear deck provides landing space for a helicopter bringing relieving personnel and supplies.

The ship didn't always enjoy a scientific role, though vessels of her type are used in the Gulf of Mexico to pack oil-drilling gear to offshore wells, on their large rear decks.

MUD BARGE
There they are known as mud barges.

But now with the maze of scientific gear built on her rear deck, the M. L. Levy, which was built in New Orleans, is something special.

Sent to Police Lab

Revenge Letter Major Clue In Deaths of Prospectors

NELSON (CP)—An incoherent letter that mentions revenge is being studied by police investigating the deaths of three elderly prospectors.

RCMP said Thursday they were working on the possibility of a double murder and suicide in the deaths last month of the men, who were partners in a number of silver and gold claims in the area.

Police said the letter was found Aug. 6 with the body of Peter Vrkljan, 72, who died of carbon monoxide poisoning in an abandoned garage near his home here. They said it appeared he had taken his own life.

A week later the bludgeoned body of John Henry Evans Ebert, 57, was found in bush on one of the claims.

found last week as those of a third prospector, Archie (Red) Cairns.

Coroner William Evans said the letter, which has been sent to an RCMP laboratory for examination, does not appear to make sense.

"It says something about revenge, possibly over $2,000, but it is not a clear letter and we have not been able to read it fully," he said.

In Quebec

'Crime Exists In Politics And Business'

MONTREAL (UPI) — Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said Thursday organized crime "exists without limits" in Quebec in all walks of life.

Wagner told the fifth International Criminological Congress organized crime, "the most dangerous class of criminals," exists inside the noblest professions.

"It exists even in political bodies as well as in civilian and commercial corporations, the latter apparently the most reluctant to such an infiltration."

"We have not in our organized crime cases of leading personalities like Al Capone, Louis Lepke and Legs Diamond who had established a criminal empire within the United States. Happily enough we have no such persons in our province, but rather certain representatives or associates of important persons."

Vote Nov. 8 Says Argue

MOOSE JAW (CP) — Hazen Argue, Federal Liberal organizer for Saskatchewan, said Thursday there will be a federal general election November 8.

Mr. Argue, former member of parliament for Assiniboia, made the statement in an interview.

He said Prime Minister Pearson believes Canada can be governed best by a party with a majority in the Commons.

Mr. Pearson's Liberal government does not have a majority at present.

City Hall Rocks Over Lot Deal

By A. H. MURPHY

Members of city council legislative committee deadlocked Thursday on a decision to sell a city-owned lot to an employee of the city engineer's department.

Senior city officials also tangled on the question and charges were made that if such practices took place in a private company, the employee would be fired.

With only four committee members present and an even split on the question, the matter was tabled until a meeting can be held with better attendance.

ON RYAN STREET

The lot in question is on Ryan Street and the employee, Terry Johnston, a roddman with a survey crew.

Land Commissioner Alfred Joyce said the lot was one of four on the street owned by the city. Three sold for prices in the neighborhood of $4,000, but the fourth, because it fell away sharply, was not bought.

He said Mr. Johnston made a deposit on the lot, which was listed for sale at $1,500. Immediately free fill from the city's Bowker Creek development, began pouring into the property.

FREE CITY FILL
If the lot is filled with free, city-trucked material, said Mr. Joyce, it will be as valuable to the city as the other three, and therefore he recommended that the Johnston offer be refused.

"I maintain that this employee had knowledge, as a member of the city engineer's staff, of the city's plans."

Council Fails To Solve Greek Crisis

ATHENS (UPI) — A second session of a crown council called by King Constantine ended early today with no signs of a break in Greece's seven-week-old governmental crisis.

Eleven former premiers and several parliamentary leaders met for 6½ hours with the 25-year-old monarch at the Royal palace.

Former premier, George Papandreu, who has frustrated efforts by Constantine to form a government of national union, emerged to say, "I have suggested a caretaker government and elections at the earliest possible convenience."

Constantine is vigorously opposed to elections.

The crown council has not been scheduled to meet again. Observers said the two sessions appeared to have left the critical situation unchanged.

New Bloc To Fight Election

MONTREAL (UPI) — Formation of Le Bloc du Quebec, a new federal political party which plans to enter candidates in every Quebec riding in the next federal elections, was announced Thursday.

A pamphlet handed to reporters at a press conference, announcing formation of the party said the bloc "does not propose separation of Quebec from the rest of Canada, but insists upon respect for the principle of equality between the two nations, by means of a new constitution."

MANIFESTO
A six-page manifesto, read to reporters by Montreal journalist Andre Levesque, a spokesman for the party set out the following aims if the party is elected to Ottawa:

• Severance of all sovereign ties Canada has with other countries.

• Formation of a new parliamentary system under a president and two chambers, one representing English Canada and the second French Canada.

• Creation of five economic regions for the country, the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia.

• Rewriting of the constitution to give French-Canadians "justice and representation."

"Within a few days at least five members of Parliament will join Le Bloc du Quebec," said Mr. Levesque.

Booster Rocket Blown Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF. (AP) — A Thor-Agena booster rocket was destroyed moments after launch Thursday, showering a nearby residential area, and 41 persons were taken to the base hospital for examinations.

An air force spokesman said apparently no one was injured, but the 41 persons were taken to the hospital as "a precautionary measure."

DEBRIS FALLS
The missile was exploded in flight by the range safety officer.

Two trailer homes were damaged by falling debris and several brush fires were ignited on the base, but the flames were contained, the spokesman said.

Williston Slams Diversion

Lands, Forests, and Water Resources Minister Williston said Thursday that a U.S. plan to divert water from the Canadian Rockies to eastern Canada and the southwest United States would deprive B.C. of its hydro-generating potential.

He called the plan "visionary" and "impractical," echoing previously expressed views of Premier Bennett.

MAKE STUDY

On Wednesday in the U.S. Senate, Utah Sen. Frank E. Moss, a Democrat, introduced a resolution asking that an engineering study be made by the end of next year and that President Johnson invite Canada to join in the study.

The scheme, called NAWAPA for North American Water and Power Alliance, would cost an estimated $100,000,000,000 and take about 30 years to finish.

NO BENEFIT

Drawing on Yukon and the Rocky Mountain Trench, NAWAPA would divert water as far east as Lake Superior (where it would help regulate the level of the Great Lakes) and as far south as Mexico.

But Alberta Perks Up

CALGARY (CP) — Industry and Development Minister A. R. Patrick of Alberta said, Thursday, the province is "most interested" in a $100,000,000 plan to divert surplus water from northwestern Canada to the United States.

Mr. Patrick said NAWAPA "at least points up the great need for water conservation."

Crisis Seems Ended

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Mediator Ellsworth Bunker of the United States said Thursday he expects the provisional government of Hector Garcia-Godoy to receive widespread diplomatic recognition "very quickly" after it is installed Friday.

"We are hopeful that peace may now return to the Dominican Republic and that it will be set on the path of recovery and the establishment of representative democracy," Bunker said.

BITTER CRISIS

The American spoke for the three-man mediation committee of the Organization of American States (OAS) that negotiated acceptance of the provisional government to end the bitter crisis after more than four months.

Garcia-Godoy, 44, will become president of the new government at a simple ceremony scheduled for Friday in the presidential palace.

Kashmir War Spreads

NEW DELHI (AP) — India said Pakistani pilots flew U.S.-made jets Thursday in aerial combat over Kashmir, while Pakistan's ground units punched five miles into Indian territory behind American-made Patton tanks.

Indian officials acknowledged the loss of two towns, Chamb and Dewa. It appeared an Indian counter-attack had only slowed the advance of what India says is a Pakistani force of 3,000 men and 70 tanks, pouring into the hilllands of southwest Kashmir.

Hopeful talk about a dawn counter-attack had switched by night to an official report that the fighting was continuing on a "subdued scale," but that "our soldiers are putting up a vigorous fight."

Though the exact battleground situation was hazy, it was clear the government was prepared for the worst—perhaps even a greatly widened conflict with neighboring Pakistan.

A defence ministry spokesman said Indian air force planes were attacked by Pakistani planes as they flew reconnaissance missions.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman said Pakistan's forces continued to press unchecked eastward across the plains from captured Chamb.

Radio Pakistan said Pakistani forces captured about 200 Indian soldiers and 15 tanks in the first day of fighting around Chamb.

An Indian spokesman said Indian air strikes destroyed or badly damaged 13 of the medium Pakistani Patton tanks and 30 or 40 other heavy vehicles were wrecked.

Canada May Mediate

OTTAWA (CP) — The possibility of Canada acting as a mediator in the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir is being explored.

External Affairs Minister Martin Thurday called in separately for talks Indian High Commissioner Bejoy Krishna Acharya and Pakistan High Commissioner Sultan Mohammed Khan.

Troops Patrol Natchez

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi national guardsmen in full battle dress enforced a tense peace here late Thursday after city officials rejected Negro demands for stepped-up desegregation.

Governor Paul Johnson sent the 650 guardsmen into this historic Mississippi River port early Thursday, saying there was imminent danger of a riot.

Negro leaders called off an afternoon march. They urged Negroes to stay calm.

Guardsmen, some with riot guns and others with bayonets on their rifles, patrolled the streets in jeeps. Their orders were to disperse any groups that formed.

Curfew Falls Following Poona Riots

BOMBAY (UPI) — Authorities Thursday clamped a 24-hour curfew on the city of Poona following two days of Hindu-Muslim riots. Indian troops were standing by in the event of more trouble.

About 50 persons were injured and several buildings, including places of worship, were damaged in the communal fighting.

Can of People Attracts Fishes

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Three of the United States first 10 aquanauts described Thursday night how Sealab 2 has created a new world for them of "beautiful green light," octopuses and inquisitive fish that peer through windows into their underwater home.

in the 45-day test of man's ability to survive an underwater environment "the biggest thrill of my lifetime."

He was joined in a unique interview transmitted via the new Benthic laboratory from Sealab to the Scripps Oceanic Institute by two other crew members, Barry Cannon, 30, and Cyril J. Tuckfield, 43, both of Panama City, Fla.

It is particularly interesting at night when the fish come up and peer through lighted windows at the men inside," he continued. "We peer right back at them."

He added, "everytime someone sees something new we all rush to the window to look Tuckerfield, who does much of the cooking and is chief engineer, joked about the eating. "If we don't do anything else we will certainly set an eating record while we are here. You know that hatch we come in and out of is 40 inches across. If we're not careful we won't be able to get out when this is all over."

Helium in the cabin air mixture distorts speech, Skidmore said, adding, "We had a lot of fun laughing at each other's speech at first. But after a while down here we've learned to talk so we can understand each other."

But the Benthic laboratory unscrupulously these distortions for transmission to the mother ship and Scripps Laboratory.

As the long-range threat of Hurricane Emily continued to diminish, Scott Carpenter and other aquanauts went ahead with work on the first underwater weather station and other projects.

Why Bennett Is Going to Italy

By IAN STREET

B.C. tempers what at times appears to be its extreme regionalism with a willingness to look abroad for new ideas and capital.

We proudly claim the title of Canada's most outward-looking province. The fact that this grandiose designation is self-bestowed, I suppose, does detract somewhat from the image.

But this doesn't mean that it is entirely unmerited.

Evidence the fact that within a few weeks our peripatetic premier is off to the U.K. and Italy and Trade and Industry Minister Lofmark heads a B.C. trade delegation bound for northwestern Europe.

Both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Lofmark were members of the strong cabinet delegation that returned from a special mission to the Far East in June. Last fall the premier was in Austria and Britain. And so it has gone in recent years.

There has been a characteristic flamboyance attached to the premier's upcoming official visit to Italy. Much as Mr. Bennett loves a secret he's not to blame. These matters must be handled within the bounds of diplomatic protocol.

There were the usual coy references to visiting an unnamed European power followed by a report from Ottawa that the premier had left a federal-provincial conference to lunch at the Italian embassy. After that the actual announcement of the Italian visit, some time later, was an anticlimax. Italy is a good trading partner but not by any means one

Kashmir Crisis Puts UN On Trial Again

By HAROLD MORRISON, from London

The power of the United Nations is once more on trial over the crisis in Kashmir.

The Kashmir crisis, allowed to simmer for years, has erupted into what appears to be the beginning of a full India-Pakistan war that could spread and embroil all Asia if not halted promptly.

Britain, Canada and other Commonwealth countries had hoped that both Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan would heed family advice.

Britain has been working behind the scenes to urge both leaders to cool their national pride and move back from the brink of disaster. Attempts towards conciliation have failed.

The United Nations now is grappling with the issue and at the moment there is no indication that U Thant, the secretary-general, can wield more influence over the Asian antagonists than Britain or the Commonwealth.

For the first time there appears in the issue the elements of a fatalistic gamble on the part of Pakistan. For years Ayub Khan has tried by various means to get India to agree to some final, acceptable solution to the Kashmir issue.

There was some indication that the late Jawaharlal Nehru was edging towards negotiations. The Pakistan president may have believed that Nehru's successor might be even more ready to get a final settlement.

But Shastri has shown he has a backbone of iron. Attempts by Kashmir guerrillas to infiltrate the Indian side of the cease-fire line have been repulsed. There is no doubt among many Western observers that this initial infiltration attempt had the support of Pakistan, which in turn may feel it can turn to China for help if the Kashmir flareup should turn into full war.

India now has moved a step further by invading and seizing strongholds on the Pakistani side of the cease-fire line, perhaps feeling that in the event of full war, New Delhi could count on help from Moscow.

Pakistan says it won't allow India's "aggression" to go unchallenged. There appears to be no immediate solution in sight.

One hope among British authorities is that Moscow and Peking will make their positions clear. Both India and Pakistan might be less eager for a full showdown if they were told they could expect no help from Soviet or Chinese quarters. There is some question, however, whether China will attempt to discourage Pakistan. Indeed, China may want to encourage Pakistan to settle an old feud with India.

Big Powers Warned

Sweden Threatens To Create N-Force

By ALAIN de LYROT, from Stockholm

Independent nuclear defence system if attempts to prevent nuclear proliferation are a failure, according to Swedish Defence Minister Sven Andersson.

"Sweden would already have an atomic force if it had really wanted one," Andersson stated in an interview.

"We have the technical know-how, we have the financial means and we have gone as far as we wished in research, short of producing prototype weapons," Andersson said.

A leader of Sweden's majority Social Democratic Party, Andersson is adamantly opposed to the development of a Swedish atomic force unless circumstances force such a decision.

Some of Sweden's military men—notably the supreme commander of its armed forces, Gen. Thorsten Rapp—are believed not to share entirely the government viewpoint. They advocate the development of prototypes.

This, in their view, is consistent with Sweden's traditional defence policy which has been based on the maintenance of a strong, well-trained and well-equipped modern army sufficiently convincing to deter any rash attack.

Andersson said several nations of Europe, including Switzerland and Spain, as well as such other countries as Israel and Egypt, could probably produce a nuclear force.

"If Sweden went ahead with the production of nuclear weapons, this would encourage such nations to do likewise and you can imagine the result," he added.

Andersson feels that it is up to the world powers to lead the way in disarmament talks and to follow up on the nuclear test ban treaty.

By pushing forward our planning and research in the nuclear field we are giving the big powers a hint of what could happen if they don't step up their nonproliferation efforts," he said.

trade is sharply in our favor. But Italy, which ran into a huge deficit of trade balance in 1963, and struggled back to a surplus last year, is out to win overseas markets everywhere.

A large trade mission to Canada headed by an Italian cabinet minister visited B.C. in June during a cross-Canada tour. The mission, sponsored by the Italian department of foreign trade, was here to drum up more machinery business.

The Italian industries represented ranged from plastics and pharmaceuticals to marble working and petro-chemical equipment.

There has recently been a marked increase in imports of Italian capital goods. An Italian firm has supplied equipment for a new chemical plant. And with the rapid growth of secondary industry in this province more buyers are becoming interested in Italian machine tools and other industrial equipment.

So, when Premier Bennett goes to Rome he'll be selling his line of partnership in B.C.'s growth to Italian investors, and Italian manufacturers will be lobbying like mad for the sale of their equipment for factories that are springing up here.

With luck the premier may even get another scroll to hang

Gold River to Zeballos

Coastal Freight Boat Links Island Outposts

By DON HUNTLEY

GOLD RIVER — The Uchuck III, a combination passenger and freight vessel, operates from Gold River on the west coast of Vancouver Island, up the long narrow rock-faced inlets, serving many isolated communities for 40 miles up the coast.

She is one of the last of the intriguing coastal freight boats that pokes its nose into every little wharf and boom-stick landing, carrying freight and passengers.

The skipper, Esson Young, turns his vessel around at Zeballos, the northern end of the run. Having delivered all his freight and passengers, he starts on the return trip, never knowing quite how long it will take to return to Gold River.

TWO-WAY RADIO

In the wheel-house the two-way radio is turned on and calls from many logging camps, fish scows, Indian villages or lighthouses may break in at any time asking him to make a stop.

While Mr. Young busily manoeuvres his vessel between the small islands, he keeps up a steady commentary on points of interest to the tourists on board, while one ear is cocked to the radio for messages. An Indian from Friendly Cove may call him to ask him to watch out for engine parts for his fishboat on the next truck at Gold River.

A logging camp makes an urgent call asking him to pick up some broken equipment to be sent to Campbell River for repairs.

LINE THE RAILS

At every port of call, tourists and regular travellers alike line the rails to watch the crew open the hatch for the crane to swing the freight and supplies across the landing.

Greetings and shouts pass between the boat and the shore as neighbors recognize each other. They very rarely meet. The Uchuck III is not just wood and steel but a skipper and a crew which bring a real lifeline along the inland waterway of the west coast.

The motor vessel and its skipper started their west coast service a number of years ago at Port Alberni, serving the isolated communities between Bamfield and Tofino. When logging roads were opened to the public the Uchuck III steamed north to Nootka Sound to serve another frontier badly in need of service.

FIVE DAYS A WEEK

Five days a week she travels north from Gold River to Tahsis, a large and growing sawmill community at the head of Tahsis Inlet. She cuts cattle.

through a narrow passage past Esperanza, the only outpost hospital on the west coast, then up Esperanza Inlet to the mining community of Zeballos. Three days a week during the summer months, after disembarking her passengers from the regular run at Gold River, she takes on a new role. In conjunction with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Parlor Tours, she takes tourists on a sightseeing tour down Murchison Arm, out across Nootka Sound to Friendly Cove, the historic Indian village where Captain Cook made his first landing on the shores of British Columbia in 1778.

Here, in this sheltered little cove, the Spanish once established a settlement for nearly six years. Then at this same spot Spain relinquished her rights of land ownership in Canada to Captain Vancouver in 1792, under the Nootka Sound Convention.

BUY SOUVENIRS

In this historic and picturesque cove, passengers may be fortunate enough to purchase hand-woven baskets or carved masks. If the Friendly Cove residents just happen to be interested. However, they may only see passengers being loaded over the side from a ladder to a small skiff.

On the return run of this five-hour round trip, the ship passes the old Nootka Cannery and circles around Bligh Island where Captain Cook's crew once became the first loggers and exporters of timber from British Columbia, when they replaced their masts and repaired their ships from the tall timbers of Resolution Cove.

The motor vessel allows as it pulls in close to the sheer cliffs of Murchison Arm while the skipper points out to the passengers

LAWNS

By far the cheapest and best fertilizer for your lawn and shrubs is weedfree topsoil. If applied as a top-dresser (one yard for every 600 sq. feet), it will after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made in the days not so long ago when we had not yet heard of chemical fertilizers. Topdressed lawns are, moreover, far less vulnerable to weeds and, most important of all, require less watering. One 50-lb. bag of chemical fertilizer costing $1.00 contains only 8 pounds of plant food. In comparison, you can buy for the same $4.00 2,500 pounds of weedfree topsoil, of which every pound helps to build up a good lawn.

When buying topsoil insist upon soil free of weeds and clay. The cost of dewatering is such that apart from the health hazards involved it does not pay to buy topsoil containing seeds of weeds.

Beer Trickles in Victoria

By BOB PETHICK

While Victoria beer supplies dwindle to a mere trickle that threatens to dry up by Labor Day, Salt Spring Island residents appear to be living in a land of plenty.

Inquest

Death Case Remains Mystery

LADYSMITH — Coroner Russell Inkster of Nanaimo and a coroner's jury Thursday night viewed the body of Sidney Townsend, 86, who died in hospital here Sunday.

A post-mortem conducted in Nanaimo earlier in the week did not establish how the elderly man suffered the injuries which caused his death.

HOTEL ROOM

He was helped to his room in a local hotel last Wednesday by a private citizen who found him lying about one block from the Legion hall on First Avenue. Mr. Townsend told a friend next morning that he had been struck by a car and he complained that he had lost the use of one of his legs. He was taken to Ladysmith Hospital that morning and died there Sunday.

INVESTIGATION

Last night's inquest was adjourned indefinitely to enable police to investigate further. Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. today at Ladysmith Funeral Home.

Liquor sales were reported from normal to a slight increase, but this was attributed to the long Labor Day weekend.

Assault

Nets Jail Term

CHEMAINUS — Theodore Edward Stephens, 25, of no fixed address, was sentenced Thursday to six months in Oakalla, when he pleaded guilty to common assault.

Police said Stephens approached a woman who was berry picking on Richards Trail near Duncan, Aug. 9. He drove up in a truck, stopped and tried to strike up a conversation.

When he attempted to pull the woman to the ground, she screamed and Stephens ran away.

At least one complaint about service was received by the Colonist Thursday. The complaint reported being served a bottle of beer of a brand he didn't like.

"That's the one kind I can't drink," he told the waiter. That was the last he saw of the beer. The waiter is reported to have said "You're not drinking, buddy," and whipped the beer away.

There were apparently other brands available.

While a few city pubs managed to keep their doors open Monday looks D-day for Victoria.

And then the smart ones who bought their malt, hops, yeast and sugar and put down a batch of home brew 10 days ago will be laughing. They may even find they have more friends than ever before.

Float Plane Flips On Landing

CAMPBELL RIVER — A pilot and two passengers escaped injury on Wednesday when a float plane flipped over as it landed at the head of State Inlet, 50 miles north-east of here.

A spokesman for Island Airlines said pilot John Lightbourn and two unidentified men were picked up by a boat from a nearby logging camp.

Hospital Chief Resigns

COMOX — William C. Moore has resigned as chairman of St. Joseph's Hospital board of directors. New chairman is Henry E. Schellinck, vice-principal of Courtenay High School.

Mr. Moore, clerk-administrator for the city of Courtenay, began his chairmanship five years ago when he was mayor of Courtenay and city representative on the board.

Moore

Although he planned to resign some time ago, he said he promised to continue as chairman until tenders for the new hospital had been called.

STAYED IN CRISIS — He then stayed through the recent crisis and has now resigned as he originally intended.

Mr. Schellinck has been teaching in the Comox Valley for the past 15 years and has held his present position for eight years. He was appointed to the hospital board in 1963.

Alberni's Mayor Reassures Area

ALBERNI Mayor Bishop has a reassuring word for citizens who find themselves still living in unsewered areas, despite the major sewer construction recently completed by the city.

"The areas which still are served by septic tanks have the advantage of soil which offers excellent drainage properties, and, in addition, the remaining unsewered areas are not heavily populated, which gives the good drainage field an even better chance to do a satisfactory job," explained the mayor.

Prior to installation of a sewer system, the difficult areas, particularly those adjoining the Cherry Creek laundry, had double trouble with heavy population, plus problem soil.

PROBLEM SOLVED — Despite the fact that costly new homes were built and owners spent hundreds on the most up-to-date septic tanks, the problem was never solved until full-scale sewerage went in, the mayor said.

However, those homes within the city limits which remain on septic tanks are covered by city building and zoning regulations, unless the adjoining rural areas.

Since the recent report by the medical officer linking the hepatitis epidemic to lack of a sewer system, many people in the district have been concerned over the lack of control in some areas.

Car Hits Power Pole Blackout Follows

NANAIMO — A small explosion followed by a power failure occurred on Wallace Street at 1:30 a.m. Thursday when a car sheered off a power pole.

When police arrived to investigate no driver could be located, but later in the day Conrad Reinsteil, Nanaimo, reported he had been driver of the vehicle.

B.C. Hydro linemen spent until 6:30 a.m. repairing the damage.

City Hall Green Offers Fishing

ALBERNI — It had to happen sooner or later.

Everyone who visits the Alberni city hall delights in its location, with rear windows opening directly on the Soan River and a velvet green side lawn, sloping down to the mooring area for pleasure boats.

Yachtsters are seen daily perched on the retaining wall of the lawn, dropping a line in the well-stocked river.

Monday evening city hall employee Walter Dahlquist was 10 minutes early for a council meeting, and succumbed to the daily temptation offered ardent

Caycuse, Gordon River, Mead Creek

Cowichan Lake Area Open for Recreation

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Outdoors Editor

B.C. Forest Products and Western Forest Industries announced Thursday they will open their Caycuse, Gordon River and Mead Creek logging operations in the Cowichan Lake area to hunters and other recreationists during non-operational, non-hazardous times, which means weekends and holidays, starting this holiday weekend.

All main logging roads will be open, but side roads to active logging areas will be barred by "no access" signs and recreationists are placed on their honor to obey. In recent years these areas have been open only under the fish and game access program.

The entry of the Cowichan Lake area for general public access means that all main logging operations on Vancouver Island will now provide public access, at least in the hunting season.

Snake area logging companies announced public access a couple of weeks ago. Pacific Logging in Cowichan Lake announced earlier its 16-Creek and 18-Creek operations would be open for public access.

This year more hunters on Vancouver Island will have more land to hunt than ever before and because of the tree farm licence and sustained yield policies of B.C. this happy situation is likely to stay forever.

Hunters are being invited into the forest lands, but the hunters will be on trial. If they don't behave themselves their freedom of movement could be curtailed. If they do behave themselves they are likely to get better access, even picnic and campsites.

Access in the Snake and Cowichan Lake areas will be 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. In MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River operations the gates are not closed at the weekends, but no camping is allowed.

Maps of the new access area in Snake will be available at the Snake gates and at Stan Williams' and Robinson's sporting goods stores in Victoria.

Sixteen from Valley Going to Convention

PORT ALBERNI — A large group from Local 1-85 of the IWA will attend the regional convention in Vancouver Sept. 13 to 17.

President Walter Allen, with 13 other elected representatives, and Maurice Corbell, third vice-president of the regional group, and regional board member Earl Foxcroft will make up the group from the Alberni Valley.

Rates Revision Felt in Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Walter Allen, president of Local 1-85 of the IWA, says his group is experiencing similar problems to those reported by Weldon Jubenville of the Duncan local, in the matter of rate revision.

"However, we have apparently had more success than some other IWA groups in dealing with the matter," said Mr. Allen.

"We have succeeded in having meetings at a local level concerning revision of certain categories."

"It is the opinion of officials of this local that when we can get management at the operational level across the table satisfactory."

Job studies have been undertaken in the valley, but Local 1-85 says it agrees with other locals that the rate revisions, as presently outlined, are not satisfactory.

At Lake Cowichan

LAKE COWICHAN — Residents of the Cowichan Lake area will have no trouble finding entertainment in their own district, over the Labor Day weekend, and baseball will be the main feature.

Friday night, local Kinsmen and Legionnaires will meet at the ball park for an all-out ball game.

A few weeks ago, the Legion members bounced the Kinsmen in a tug-of-war. Prior to the game, the Kinsmen have organized a parade through the village to the ball park.

The parade and ball game are to publicize the "Hard Times" dance, which will be held at 9:30 p.m. at the new Lake Cowichan community hall.

BUilding FUND — Proceeds are earmarked for the building fund to complete the new hall. The $1 admission to the game also admits the holder to the dance.

Starting Saturday, a three-day softball tournament has been organized by the Lake Cowichan softball team.

The local team will play against the Duncan Island chain team at 10 a.m. Other games scheduled are: 12 noon, King's Hotel, of Victoria, versus Butlers, of Duncan; 2 p.m., Port Alberni meets Kasapi Construction, of Victoria; 4 p.m., losers of the first and second game meet, and at 6:00 p.m. winners of the first and second games will play.

The tournament continues throughout Sunday and Monday.

Headaches Completely Removed

Wives Love Sportsfish Custom Cannery

By PETER TAYLOR

NANAIMO — All the headaches for sports fishermen can be taken out of canning by a visit to St. Jean Smudgies Ltd. on Stewart Avenue.

Armand St. Jean has been doing a roaring business since the government started to issue licences to commercial cannery, allowing them to can salmon for private fishermen. The canned fish cannot be sold.

TAIL TALKS — To make sure fishermen are not coming in with any tail tales the salmon are weighed as soon as they are brought on the premises.

The fish are then cleaned and placed on a cutter, which slices up a 12-pound salmon in one quick movement.

SON HELPS — A canning run is not made until approximately 200 pounds have been sliced. With the help of his son Paul, 15, Mr. St. Jean puts the slices in six-ounce cans, which are passed through a canner at the rate of 200 every 15 minutes. The canner removes the air and stamps on the lids.

The cans are then cooked for 1 1/2 hours at a 240-degree temperature in a large vat.

As soon as the cooking period is over the cans are removed and doused with cold water to prevent further cooking.

Mr. St. Jean recommends that if fishermen intend to have their catch canned, they should take along a plastic bag when embarking on a fishing trip.

HANDLING — The fish should be placed in the bag, preferably cleaned and scaled, then kept out of the sun until brought to the plant.

Paper should never be wrapped around the salmon because it acts as a blotter and removes all the moisture from the flesh. Freezing is also taboo as it tends to break open the pores and allows a great deal of moisture to get into the meat.

OYSTERS — Mr. St. Jean also cans soup, chowder and smoked oysters. He has sent canned salmon as far as Texas and Florida.

He first got into the business five years ago when he saw large amounts of oysters in the Nanaimo area not being used.

Today he has expanded into helping Isaac Walters dispose of their haul without drudgery to their wives.

Parkville Ready For Lene

PARKVILLE — Residents of this district are planning a warm welcome for the turn of Lene Graaen, who started as Miss Parkville and became Miss PNE.

Particularly proud of Lene are the 1,158 officers and members of Parkville and District Credit Union who sponsored her in the contest. They wired congratulations.

Other telegrams were sent by John Robertson, village commission chairman, and the district chamber of commerce.

In Quebec

'Crime Exists In Politics And Business'

MONTREAL (UPI) — Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said Thursday organized crime "exists without limits" in Quebec in all walks of life.

Wagner told the fifth International Criminological Congress organized crime, "the most dangerous class of criminals," exists inside the noblest professions.

"It exists even in political bodies as well as in civilian and commercial corporations, the latter apparently the most reluctant to such an infiltration."

"We have not in our 'organized crime' cases of leading personalities like Al Capone, Louis Lepke and Legs Diamond who had established a criminal empire within the United States. Happily enough we have no such persons in our province, but rather certain representatives or associates of important persons."

CITY HALL ROCKED BY DEAL FOR LOT

Armed guardsmen patrol troubled streets of Natchez

By A. H. MURPHY

Members of city council legislative committee deadlocked Thursday on a decision to sell a city-owned lot to an employee of the city engineer's department.

Senior city officials also tangled on the question and charges were made that if such practices took place in a private company, the employee would be fired.

With only four committee members present and an even split on the question, the matter was tabled until a meeting can be held with better attendance.

ON RYAN STREET

The lot in question is on Ryan Street and the employee, Terry Johnston, a roofer with a survey crew.

Land Commissioner Alfred Joyce said the lot was one of four on the street owned by the city. Three sold for prices in the neighborhood of $1,000, but the fourth, because it fell away sharply, was not bought.

He said Mr. Johnston made a deposit on the lot which was listed for sale at $1,500. Immediately free fill from the city's Bowker Creek development, began pouring into the property.

FREE CITY FILL

If the lot is filled with free, city-trucked material, said Mr. Joyce, it will be as valuable to the city as the other three, and therefore he recommended that the Johnston offer be refused.

Council Fails To Solve Greek Crisis

ATHENS (UPI) — A second session of a crown council called by King Constantine ended early today with no signs of a break in Greece's seven-week-old governmental crisis.

Eleven former premiers and several parliamentary leaders met for 6½ hours with the 25-year-old monarch at the Royal palace.

Former premier George Papandreu, who has frustrated efforts by Constantine to form a government of national union, emerged to say, "I have suggested a caretaker government and elections at the earliest possible convenience."

Constantine is vigorously opposed to elections.

The crown council has not been scheduled to meet again. Observers said the two sessions appeared to have left the critical situation unchanged.

New Bloc To Fight Election

MONTREAL (UPI) — Formation of Le Bloc du Quebec, a new federal political party which plans to enter candidates in every Quebec riding in the next federal elections, was announced Thursday.

A pamphlet handed to reporters at a press conference announcing formation of the party said the bloc "does not pursue separation of Quebec from the rest of Canada, but insists upon respect for the principle of equality between the two nations, by means of a new constitution."

MANIFESTO

A six-page manifesto, read to reporters by Montreal journalist Andre Leconte, a spokesman for the party, set out the following aims of the party, it elected to Ottawa.

● Severance of all sovereign ties Canada has with other countries.

● Formation of a new parliamentary system under a president and two chambers, one representing English Canada and the second French Canada.

● Creation of five economic regions for the country — the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia.

● Rewriting of the constitution to give French-Canadians "justice and representation."

"Within a few days at least five members of Parliament will join Le Bloc du Quebec," said Mr. Leconte.

Booster Rocket Blown Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A Thor-Agena booster rocket was destroyed moments after launch Thursday, showering a nearby residential area, and 41 persons were taken to the base hospital for examinations.

An air force spokesman said apparently no one was injured, but the 41 persons were taken to the hospital as a precautionary measure.

DEBRIS FALLS

The missile was exploded in flight by the range safety officer.

Two trailer homes were damaged by falling debris and several brush fires were ignited on the base but the blazes were contained, the spokesman said.

Williston Slams Diversion

Lands, Forests and Water Resources Minister Williston said Thursday that a U.S. plan to divert water from the Canadian Rockies to eastern Canada and the southwest United States would deprive B.C. of its hydro-generating potential.

He called the plan "visionary" and "impractical," echoing previously expressed views of Premier Bennett.

MAKE STUDY

On Wednesday in the U.S. Senate, Utah Sen. Frank E. Moss, a Democrat, introduced a resolution asking that an engineering study be made by the end of next year and that President Johnson invite Canada to join in the study.

The scheme, called NAWAPA for North American Water and Power Alliance, would cost an estimated $100,000,000,000 and take about 30 years to finish.

NO BENEFIT

Drawing on Yukon and the Rocky Mountain Trench, NAWAPA would divert water as far east as Lake Superior (where it would help regulate the level of the Great Lakes) and as far south as Mexico.

—But Alberta Perks Up

CALGARY (CP) — Industry and Development Minister A. R. Patrick of Alberta said Thursday, the province is "most interested" in a $100,000,000,000 plan to divert surplus water from northwestern Canada to the United States.

Mr. Patrick said NAWAPA "at least points up the great need for water conservation."

Crisis Seems Ended

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Mediator Ellsworth Bunker of the United States said Thursday he expects the provisional government of Hector Garcia-Godoy to receive widespread diplomatic recognition "very quickly" after it is installed Friday.

"We are hopeful that peace may now return to the Dominican Republic and that it will be set on the path of recovery and the establishment of representative democracy," Bunker said.

BITTER CRISIS

The American spoke for the three-man mediation committee of the Organization of American States (OAS) that negotiated acceptance of the provisional government to end the bitter crisis after more than four months.

Garcia-Godoy, 44, will become president of the new government at a simple ceremony scheduled for Friday in the presidential palace.

Kashmir War Spreads

NEW DELHI (AP) — India said Pakistani pilots flew U.S.-made jets Thursday in aerial combat over Kashmir, while Pakistan's ground units punched five miles into Indian territory behind American-made Patton tanks.

Indian officials acknowledged the loss of two towns, Chamb and Dewa. It appeared an Indian counter-attack had only slowed the advance of what India says is a Pakistani force of 2,000 men and 70 tanks, pouring into the foothills of southwest Kashmir.

Hopeful talk about a dawn counter-attack had switched by night to an official report that the fighting was continuing on a "subdued scale," but that "our soldiers are putting up a vigorous fight."

Though the exact battleground situation was hazy, it was clear the government was prepared for the worst—perhaps even a greatly widened conflict with neighboring Pakistan.

A defence ministry spokesman said Indian air force planes were attacked by Pakistani planes as they flew reconnaissance missions.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman said Pakistani forces continued to press unchecked eastward across the plains from captured Chamb.

Radio Pakistan said Pakistani forces captured about 200 Indian soldiers and 15 tanks in the first day of fighting around Chamb.

An Indian spokesman said Indian air strikes destroyed or badly damaged 13 of the medium Pakistani Patton tanks and 30 or 40 other heavy vehicles were wrecked.

Canada May Mediate

OTTAWA (CP) — The possibility of Canada acting as a mediator in the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir is being explored.

External Affairs Minister Martin Thursday called in separately for talks Indian High Commissioner B. J. Krishna Acharya and Pakistan High Commissioner Sultan Mohammed Khan.

Troops Patrol Natchez

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi national guardsmen in full battle dress enforced a tense peace here late Thursday after city officials rejected Negro demands for stepped-up desegregation.

Governor Paul Johnson sent the 650 guardsmen into this historic Mississippi River port earlier Thursday, saying there was imminent danger of a riot.

Negro leaders called off an afternoon march. They urged Negroes to stay calm.

Guardsmen, some with riot guns and others with bayonets on their rifles, patrolled the streets in jeeps. Their orders were to disperse any groups that formed.

Curfew Falls Following Poona Riots

BOMBAY (UPI) — Authorities Thursday clamped a 24-hour curfew on the city of Poona following two days of Hindu-Muslim riots. Indian troops were standing by in the event of more trouble.

About 50 persons were injured and several buildings, including places of worship, were damaged in the communal fighting.

Royal Holiday Home Opened to Visitors

KING'S LYNN, England (Reuters) — Sandringham House, the northern England vacation home of Britain's royal family, was opened to visitors Wednesday for an entrance price of one shilling and six pence (about 23 cents).

Octopus Visits Aquanauts

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Three of the United States' first 10 aquanauts described Thursday night how Sealab 2 has created a new world for them of "beautiful green light," octopuses and inquisitive fish that peer through windows into their underwater home.

in the 45-day test of man's ability to survive an underwater environment "the biggest thrill of my lifetime."

He was joined in a unique interview transmitted via the new Benthic laboratory from Sealab to the Scripps Oceanic Institute by two other crew members, Barry Cannon, 30, and Cyril J. Tuckfield, 43, both of Panama City, Fla.

"It is particularly interesting at night when the fish come up and peer through lighted windows at the men inside," he continued. "We peer right back at them."

He added, "Everytime someone sees something new we all rush to the window to look."

Helium in the cabin air mixture distorts speech, Skidmore said, adding, "We had a lot of fun laughing at each other's speech at first. But after a while down here we've learned to talk so we can understand each other."

But the Benthic laboratory unscrambles these distortions for transmission to the mother ship and Scripps Laboratory.

As the long-range threat of Hurricane Emily continued to diminish, Scott Carpenter and other aquanauts went ahead with work on the first underwater weather station and other projects.
